CHINESE GENERALS SHOT AS GUNMEN SURPRISE MAHJONGG PARTY

"Alice" (Miss Joan Shannon), who opened the unique fete at St. Andrew's Church grounds yesterday afternoon.—(King's Studio).

NEW STRIFE IN TROUBLE-TORN CUBA REPORTED

PEASANTS REVOLT IN SANTIAGO

TROOPS PREPARING TO ATTACK

Havana, Yesterday.

A number of strategic points have been seized by groups of armed insurgents in Santiago province.

The outbreak is reported to be part of the general strike declared throughout the province in sympathy with a number of peasants whom the local courts ordered to surrender to certain foreign companies an area of unappropriated common land known as realengos, which the peasants contend was granted to their ancestors and which they have used for centuries.

Troops, it is reported, have been sent to the Quantomo district, without the Ministry of Interior's orders, to compel the peasants to surrender the land.

Two hundred soldiers are preparing to attack the position. One realengo is manned by 600 peasants.—Reuter.

GOLF "TEST" ALL SQUARE

Britain v. Australia At Melbourne

HOME TEAM'S CHANGES

Melbourne, Yesterday. After winning the first golf "Test," Britain is on level terms with Australia in the second encounter of the series as the result of to-day's foursomes.

The results were: Scott and Garnett (Britain) beat McKay and Williams 3 and 1. Ryan and Ferrier (Australia) beat McLean and Bourn 6 and 5.

Four singles matches will be played on Monday.—Reuter.

In the first "Test" last month Britain won by 4 matches to 2 after securing both foursomes matches. On that occasion McKay paired with Jim Ferrier, the former Shanghai Boy and present New South Wales champion, Ryan and Apperley were the other Australian pairing. The British team was unchanged.

"WONDERLAND" FETE AT KOWLOON

SUCCESSFUL FUNCTION TO BE REPEATED

THOUSANDS MAKE VISIT TO ST. ANDREW'S GROUNDS

THERE REMAINS LITTLE DOUBT THAT THE "ALICE IN WONDERLAND" FETE HELD AT ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH GROUNDS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON WAS BY FAR THE MOST SUCCESSFUL FUNCTION OF ITS KIND EVER HELD IN KOWLOON.

A perfect "Alice," attended by the cleverly-costumed characters of Lewis Carroll's famous book, colourful surroundings, gaily decorated stalls, and all the fun of the fair, transfigured the ground into a realistic representation of the "Wonderland" which Alice discovered.

Throughout the afternoon an enormous crowd filled the grounds to capacity, parents making purchases from the many stalls, while the kiddies amused themselves in the many competitions of skill and dance set out upon the Church lawn.

LITTLE MISS JOAN SHANNON PLAYED HER ROLE OF "ALICE" REMARKABLY WELL AND WON THE WARM APPLAUSE OF EVERYONE. THE QUANT AND UNASSUMING MANNER SHE DISPLAYED AS SHE PARADED OVER HER "DOMAIN" AND HER WELL-SPOKEN ADDRESS OF WELCOME MADE HER THE HEROINE OF THE DAY.

So successful did the function prove yesterday that it has been decided to hold the Fete again to-morrow commencing at 2.30 p.m., at reduced admission prices of 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

"ALICE" IN MOTOR-TRUCK

"Alice" arrived with all the pomp of a Queen, riding on a gaily decorated motor-truck with her

"Court" attendants in fancy dress costumes beside her, including the "Duchess" (Mrs. R. H. Spence), the "Cards," the Mad Hatter, and the White Rabbits. The remarkable spectacle thrilled the large crowd of children and parents who were gathered at the entrance to the grounds.

They were met on arrival by the Vicar of St. Andrew's Church, the Rev. J. R. Higgs, who conducted "Alice" through the archway (representing the rabbit hole) to the platform in front of the Church.

Here the Vicar introduced the Hon. Mr. R. E. Lindell as the Chairman of Fete, the others on the platform being Mrs. Bird and Miss W. Robinson, Secretaries, Miss Helen Wylie, Mrs. R. E. Lindell, Mr. W. H. C. Robson and Mr. F. W. Stapleton.

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS

The Hon. Mr. Lindell said that he felt it a very great honour to take the chair at the opening ceremony of the Fete, although he

Further Collection At Cenotaph To-day

MISS WITCHELL HEADS LIST OF COLLECTORS

The street collection from the sale of Earl Haig Poppies in the Colony yesterday amounted to $3,400, according to figures supplied to the Sunday Herald last night. It is understood, however, that a few more boxes have yet to come in.

A further collection will be made at the Star Ferry piers and at the Cenotaph this morning.

In Kowloon, where the organisation was under the charge of Mrs. A. W. Ingram, Miss M. V. Wittchell headed the list of collectors, with $111, while Miss O. Dalziel came a close second with $106.

The thanks of the organisers are tendered to all those who helped in the sale and also to those who contributed.

Alice, with her companions from Wonderland, caught by the camera at the "Alice in Wonderland" Fete, which opened at St. Andrew's Church grounds yesterday afternoon. Owing to the great success of the function, it will be continued to-morrow afternoon.—(King's Studio).

CANTONESE TROOPS HARASSED

CANTON SECURE LEAD IN INTERPORT TENNIS

Tsui Wai Poi And Rumjahn Lose In Four Sets

Canton, Yesterday. Canton secured a 2-nil lead in the Interport tennis match against the Colony to-day, when G. Bodiker, the Canton champion beat the Colony champion, Tsui Wai-pui, by 6-0, 2-6, 6-3, 8-6, and Lai Kwong-tsun repeated his previous success over S. A. Rumjahn, former Colony champion, winning by 5-4, 1-6, 6-1 and 6-3.

Lai Kwong-tsun was responsible for Rumjahn's defeat in the Colony Singles Championship this year.

Exploring China German Plans Trip

Berlin, Yesterday. The noted explorer, Dr. Wilhelm Filchner, is negotiating with the Chinese Government concerning preparations for the exploration of the north-western region.

The negotiations will continue in Shanghai during the coming week, when the question of possible Chinese participation, mainly, will be discussed.—Reuter.

INDEPENDENCE OF KWANGTUNG

Anniversary Ceremony

Canton, Yesterday. A service in commemoration of the declaration of the independence of Kwangtung from the Manchu Empire was held in the Chungshan Memorial Hall at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. More than 1,000 representatives of various public bodies and schools were present.

At the meeting Mr. Hsu Yit-woon, a committee member of the City Tangpu, made a speech emphasizing that in commemorating the anniversary it was important to co-operate with the government in carrying out the work of reconstruction and to disseminate the old teachings of the Sage.—Central Press.

WEATHER FORECAST

Cloudy weather, with moderate east winds, and drizzle or light rain, was the weather forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory last night.

KWANGTUNG SITUATION BELIEVED SERIOUS

COMMUNISTS LEAVE JUICHIN

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, Yesterday. While the Communist attacks on Kautungshan and Changkiang in the extreme north of Kwangtung are to-day stated to have been repulsed, the Cantonese troops are still on the defensive.

No official report was issued to-day on the fighting at the front. The seriousness of the situation is indicated by the fact that the military wireless station here was kept busy last night receiving reports and transmitting orders. Most of the fighting is being done at night, as the Communists are seeking to avoid the Cantonese bombing planes.

With the impending fall of Juichin, the Communist capital in Kiangsi, the main strength of the Red army has shifted to southern Hunan.

REDS SEEKING TO MOVE WEST

Kwangtung Invasion Fears Scored

COMPARED TO "SUICIDE"

Canton, Yesterday. General Lo Chuk-ying, Commander of the 18th Army Corps, who came here to confer with General Chen Chi-tang about matters relating to bandit suppression, stated in an interview granted to local press men yesterday after his return from his native county, that the Communist bandits who were in south Kiangsi would attempt to retreat to Szechuen province.

According to General Lo, the bandits are now roving on the borders of Kiangsi, Hunan, and Kwangtung, because they cannot find a passage to the west. He said that while the forces of the north and south routes are in hot pursuit behind, the troops of the west route are massing at Hangchow to intercept them.

General Lo denied that the Reds had attempted to occupy Kwangtung and Kwangsi. He described such an attempt as "committing suicide." General Lo assured that the Communist bandits are now making great efforts to force their way to the west.—Central Press.

SUGAR REFINERY COMPLETED

Canton, Yesterday. The building of the Sineho sugar refinery by the Provincial Department of Reconstruction has been completed and the machinery has been installed. According to the Department, work will be started on December 1.

It is feared that the Sio-chiu Refinery will also commence work on that day.—Central Press.

OUTRAGE IN TIENTSIN

ASSASSINS MAKE ESCAPE FROM HOTEL

2 OTHER GENERALS WOUNDED

Tientsin, Yesterday.

A sensational shooting affair occurred at the Chinese National Grand Hotel last night, when two gunmen entered a room in which General Chi Hung-chang, Jen Ying-chi and Liu Shou-hsiang were playing mah jongg and fired seven shots, killing General Liu and wounding the others.

General Chi Hung-chang was a former follower of General Feng Yu-hsiang, and commanded the troops in Kalgan during the Japanese invasion of Jehol.

The outrage is believed to be purely political. The gunmen fled and have not yet been arrested.—Reuter.

RUSSIA'S RISE TO SECOND GOLD PRODUCER SEEN

Metal Scarcity Fears Dispelled

FILIP TO RECOVERY

London, Yesterday. International trade recovery should be greatly assisted by the higher price of gold, which, apart from stimulating production in West Africa and elsewhere, and eliminating the fears of a scarcity of the metal, will increase the buying powers of certain countries, especially the South-American republics which have been hard hit by the fall of commodity prices, giving them time to stage a fresh lease of business life, states Mr. Henry Schroder in the "Quarterly Review."

Russia is prominent among the countries profiting by the growing output of metal and the high price, and is expected to displace Canada for second place among the world's gold-producing countries. Her buy—(Continued on Page 20)

AEROPLANE PRODUCTION UP IN AMERICA

New York, Yesterday. Aeroplane production in the United States for the nine months ended September 30, was 1,285 planes as compared with 1,065 for the corresponding period of last year.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

THE TOY

By REARDEN CONNER

THE little man walked down the main street of Rathmore and stopped before the windows of O'Malley's toy shop. He was wearing a bowler hat, a black overcoat, and shabby kid gloves.
 In his right hand he carried a leather attache case. "Anyone seeing him there would have placed him instantly as one of the commercial travellers who sometimes saw fit to descend upon the sleepy town.

The light from the shop windows shone out upon his peaked face and showed it to be drawn and intent. He stared at the toys in the window with a hungry, anxious look. Then he moved to the door and entered the shop.

The place was empty of customers. Only the lights in the window and those behind the counter were burning. It was after six o'clock and the woman assistant had gone home. Mr.
 O'Malley remained, busy with his accounts. He had done very well that day. Christmas was a week ahead.

The little man entered so noiselessly that Mr. O'Malley did not hear him until he had advanced well into the shop. He heard a scrape and, on looking up from his task, beheld the vision in the bowler hat and black overcoat advancing towards him.

For a moment he was startled, but then the sight of the anxious peaked face and the attache case reassured him. He recognised the type immediately. A traveller.
 Not one of those big bluffing ones, thank God, but one of the lesser breed, the sort that juggle about with their samples and whine about business being rotten and are not too overbearing to be hustled away.

"Good-evening!" said the little man mildly. He spoke with a slight Dublin accent.

"Good-evening!" Mr. O'Malley answered. "What can I do for you?"

The little man handed him a card bearing the address of a toy-manufacturing firm. "I was wondering if you'd be interested in our line of Bucking Mules—"
 This almost apologetically.

"I would not," said Mr. O'Malley.
 "That sort of thing is a shade too expensive for most of my customers."

"Money's a curse!" ejaculated the little man with a bitterness that startled his hearer. Then he continued in a normal tone: "We have a good line in toy telephones that might appeal to you?"

"I have half-a-dozen in stock already, and I can't get rid of 'em," Mr. O'Malley complained, with a wave at his shelves.

"Business is rotten!" the little man retorted, again infusing bitterness into his tone. "There's nothing doing anywhere. Nothing at all."

"It's bad," agreed Mr. O'Malley, with a hint of smugness in his intonation. "But it could be worse. Why didn't you come in to me before? I usually place my orders weeks ahead. I like to have my stuff on show a while before Christmas."

"Christmas is a long way off," retorted the little man. "It's seven whole days from now. For some of us that may be an eternity.
 An eternity! We may never see it. Do you realise that?"

Mr. O'Malley felt uneasy. He glanced at the traveller's hat and coat and shoes and said: "Oh, come now, things aren't as black as all that—are they? After all —you firm—"

"I have something here," said the little man, firmly, placing his attache case on the counter for the first time "that is sure to interest you." He snapped open the locks of the case. The next moment
 Mr. O'Malley found himself staring at the pugnacious muzzle of a squat automatic. He looked above the weapon and saw that the little man's face had hardened into an expressionless mask. The eyes had grown chill and colourless.

"Don't move!" said the lips in the pale face. The eyes swerved from Mr. O'Malley and darted around the shop. "There's money in that desk," said the lips. "You were counting it when I came in.
 Hand over every penny of it!"

Mr. O'Malley started back and said in a shocked voice. "But it's robbery, man—sheer robbery!"
 The lips twisted and a harsh imitation of a laugh came from them. "Did you think it was a picnic?" they asked. "Come on—hand over the money!"

Mr. O'Malley did not move. He continued to look from the set face to the automatic and back to the face again. Then his eye caught the card on the counter.
 He licked his lips and said, "I'll report you to your firm for this."
 It was a foolish remark, he knew, but he made it to gain time. The man laughed harshly once more.
 His eyes gleamed. "That's a good one!" he said. "Be the janey, that's a ripe one!" His merriment seemed to come and go automatically as though it were a thing that could be switched on and off like the electric light above his head. "Get a move on!" he barked.

"I'll do nothin' of the sort!" Mr.
 O'Malley retorted. He was surprised at the firmness of his voice, and it gave him courage.

"Do you want me to plug you?"
 the man asked. "I'll do it, too, b'cipes, if you don't keep your mouth shut!"

Mr. O'Malley glared at him. "Go on!" the man commanded. "Get that money!"

"I'll not move an inch from this spot!" Mr. O'Malley declared emphatically.

"All right," said the other. "I'll help myself, then. But if you do move an inch I'll let you have it as sure as God's in heaven!"

He edged towards the desk at the end of the counter. Mr.
 O'Malley bent the palms of his hands on the counter, and shouted, "Stop it!" Stop it, man! It's barefaced robbery!" The little man swung round and jutted out the automatic. "Shut up, you fool!" he said savagely. "Do you want me to knock a hole in your cranium?"

"Shoot!" shouted Mr. O'Malley dramatically. "Shoot me down like a dog if you like! But you're not going to get one penny of my money while I have a breath left in my body!" He continued to beat the counter with his hands, and at the same time jumped up and down like a jack-in-the-box. He did not believe that the man would have the courage to shoot him down in cold blood, and because of this he did not show fear in his face or bearing.

The little man was unmoved.
 His glance darted over the halflighted shop. He lifted his weapon as though to fire at Mr.
 O'Malley. He seemed to think better of it and lowered the muzzle. He listened for a moment, then made a dash for the desk.

"Stop! Stop!" Mr. O'Malley continued to shout. The little man now ignored him. He was fumbling at the desk when the sound of running feet reached him. His head jerked upwards and sideways like a dog listening for its master. He glided away from the desk and back to the counter. In a twinkling the automatic was slammed into the attache case and the locks fastened. A moment later the doorway darkened and a policeman entered.

The newcomer was a tall man, over six feet in height. He was dressed in the neat uniform of the Civic Guards, and, since he was built in proportion to his height, he looked a fine figure.
 The little man was now leaning carelessly on the counter as though he had been engaged in nothing more serious than a casual gossip with the shopkeeper. He had dwindled once again into an insignificant little creature.

"What's wrong in here?" asked the Guard. "Is there anything up, Mr. O'Malley? I was down at the corner and I thought I heard you call out?" He spoke with a rich brogue.

"You turned up at the right moment," said Mr. O'Malley. "That man was tryin' to rob me. He's got a gun in his case." He pointed an accusing finger at the little man, who was now smiling disarmingly.

"It was all a mistake," chimed in the little man in a mild tone.
 He picked up the card from the counter and said in stilled tones,
 "I am a traveller for a firm are anxious to market a toy pistol which is a toy and yet more than a toy—if you understand what I mean. After handing my card to this gentleman—here I produced

Paris. THE skirted style of Schiaparelli is interesting in Spanish plaid cotton that meets down the centre front and looks like standing any amount of hard wear, while maintaining a smart idea. Other designers foster ankle-length skirts cut on an identical wrap-round plan which is straight in effect, but with a subtle graduated bell-width.

"DUSK ROSE" FOR BRUNETTES

THE colours of the new powders are more adorable than ever. They make youthful skins more youthful and give the older skin the peach-bloom glow of youth. One firm has lovely "beige satine" tone that combines beige and a delicate peach that is grand for medium complexions.

There is "dusk rose" for brunettes, while another house has a "rose-beige" and an "apricot" powder that make you devastating. This latter company also makes its powder in two weights—a very soft downy one that is especially good for dry skins and another powder that is just right for oily skins.

SELECT THE BEST OF COSMETIC

SELECT only the best of cosmetics and be careful about your cleansing methods and there will be little danger of the pores of the skin becoming clogged and blemished. If this has already happened from cheap cosmetics or careless cleansing, do not be discouraged but get to work to correct the condition. In almost every reputable line of cosmetics there is at least one preparation that is intended to help you correct such flaws as blackheads and enlarged pores.

Practical Exercises

DON'T put up with those unsightly rolls of fat above the waistline and over the tummy. The following exercises will soon dispose of them, if you do them faithfully every night and morning:—

Stand near an open window, heels two inches apart, the toes turned out, head erect, hands on hips. Raise yourself on your toes bend your knees until you are sitting on your heels, keeping your shoulders well back and your chin well up. Do this twenty times. Next, standing in the same position, raise your arms as high above your head as possible and then bend from your waist, first to the right and then to the left, twenty times each way.

Original Glass Ideas In Home Equipment

NEW BEAUTY BOXES WITH MIRROR GLASS

WITH the revival of private-house entertaining, both intimate supper and theatre parties and large luncheon and dinner parties, many new ideas in British glass and china and pottery will be seen during the autumn season.

Glass that was formerly procurable only from Venice, Sweden or France, is now being made in British factories into such diverse things as door-stops, standard-lamps, dressing-table beauty boxes, vases for short-stemmed flowers and dining-table decorations.

Autumn winds are partly responsible for the heavy triangular jade-green and white glass—door-stops that Lady Colefax is having made by a British manufacturer, who also makes the same pieces of glass into table-lamps to complete an ensemble.

Glass that has been left at the bottom of a mould at the glass-blowers' furnace sometimes with small pieces of the mould still adhering to it after it has been removed, makes a novel table or mantelpiece decoration, with its deep greens and reflections. This is the idea of a Tottenham-court-road firm.

Blown Glass "Bubbles"
Blown Glass "bubbles," in shades of white, blue and green, intended to be heaped together in a shallow glass bowl with an electric light globe in the middle, are another novel table decoration for the days when flowers are not so plentiful.

Asters, stocks, daisies, marigolds, and other short-stemmed autumn flowers now have British vases especially designed to hold them in clumps. These are rather like the glasses into which galantines boars' heads, and caviare are packed.

Mirror glass is used for the outside of the beauty boxes from America, now copied in this country, which are lined with cedar wood. Women who use their bedrooms also as boudoirs place their cosmetics and manure accessories in these boxes during the day.

SCRAPPY RUGBY GAME SEES CLUB WIN

ARMY EXPERIMENT WITH NEW PLAYERS

HEWITT IN LIMELIGHT

IN spite of many enforced changes in their side, the Club premier fifteen defeated the Army at Sookunpoo yesterday by two goals, a penalty goal and two tries (19 points) to a goal (5 points) in their friendly rugby encounter.

The Army team fielded many newcomers, only seven of the Borderers players from last season's Army fifteen being represented, the other members of the team being made up of two players from the Royal Army Medical Corps, five from the Lincolns and one from the Royal Artillery.

CLUB WELL BEATEN IN "A" ENCOUNTER

Simmonds Prominent Throughout

The Army "A" fifteen easily accounted for the Club "A" at Sookunpoo yesterday, winning by two goals and a try (13 points) to nil, the Club back being very weak in defence.

Simmonds, who should have been playing for the Army first fifteen, showed excellent form—he opened the scoring with a dazzling run, cutting through the Club pack to score between the posts. He crowned his own effort by converting with ease.

Shortly afterwards another good bout of passing again saw Simmonds cross in a favourable position. He again converted.

The Club backs were set in motion on several occasions, but wild passing spoiled many scoring opportunities.

In the second half the Army went further ahead when Hutchinson broke away on the covered-stands side of the ground and out-paced the Club backs to score between the posts. Pto. Howell failed to add the points.

Mr. J. Ralston, a former-Club stalwart, refereed.

LADIES' LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Entries for the Ladies' Open Singles and Doubles tennis championships, under the auspices of the United Services Recreation Club, close to-morrow. The draw will take place at the U. S. R. C. on Wednesday at 6.30 p.m.

With the exception of several individual performances, the play was very patchy, the Club holding the upper hand throughout the first half and for most of the second.

Hewitt, who played at the base of the Army scrum, was the outstanding player, time and again setting his three-quarters moving with glorious passes.

McGilchrist was also in form and scored two very good tries, his swerve and speed carrying him through without much opposition.

McLellan Prominent
McLellan played a hard game in the three-quarter line, and his goal-kicking was superb. He was deadly in his tackling and dangerous when on the move.

He combined well with Riggs, who also showed up well after an absence of several weeks.

McGilchrist opened the scoring after 10 minutes when he gathered a wild pass brilliantly to score near the posts after a long run.

McLellan added the major points. Several breakaways by the Army backs were checked by the determined tackling of the Club backs, Lammert being particularly safe at full-back.

Following a three-quarter movement, Riggs broke away to cross the Army line for the second try, McLellan converting with an excellent kick.

Soon after the Club were awarded a penalty and McLellan landed a brilliant goal from a difficult angle.

Munro Breaks Through
In the second half the Club increased their score when Munro broke away from a line-out and forced his way over for a try.

McLellan's kick hit the post and glanced out of play.

In the middle of the second half the Club three-quarters were seen in several dazzling three-quarter movements, but Hewitt, Ward, Gilmore, and Berrian tackled well.

McGilchrist went over for his second try after a magnificent effort—he took a shoulder-high pass from Stewart to score wide of the posts. The kick failed.

Just before the end the Army secured their only score through Stittson, following a clever run by Fall. The latter passed the ball when tackled by Lammert, and Stittson, who was following up, gathered a low pass to cross over in a favourable position.

Ward converted and "no-side" was blown soon after.

Dr. J. A. R. Selby refereed and lined up the following:

Army:—L/Cpl. Smith (S.W.B.), Gnr. Hubbard (R.A.), Sgt. Ward (S.W.B.), Pte. Sherman (R.A.M.C.), Pte. Stittson (R.A.M.C.), Pte. Makin (Lines) L/Cpl. Hewitt (S.W.B.), Cpl. Berrian (Lincolns), Cpl. Trait (S.W.B.), Cpl. Chio (Lincolns), Pte. Gilmore (S.W.B.), Pte. Fall (Lincolns), Cpl. Hardy (S.W.B.), Lt. O'Connor (Lincolns) L/Bdr. Hall (R.A.).

TO-DAY'S CYCLING CLUB SPIN

Under H. A. G. Kotes, from the Jordan Road Ferry at 9.30 a.m., to-day's programme for the Hong Kong Cycling Club is a ride into the New Territories, during which temples in the vicinity of Tai Po and Shatakok will be the centres of interest.

Fung King Cheong scored three of the five goals that sealed the Club's doom yesterday.

MISS FAIR WINS GOVERNOR'S CUP AT GYMKHANA

Mr. Greig Wins Trophy Given By Borderers

DISTINGUISHED CROWD SEE KEEN COMPETITION

The Pony Gymkhana, held under the auspices of the Hong Kong Polo Club at Causeway Bay yesterday, proved to be a great success, the various events attracting fairly large entries.

In spite of the threatening weather and the slight drizzle on Friday night, conditions were ideal, the weather being cool enough to make riding enjoyable.

Among the distinguished gathering present were Mrs. Borrett, wife of the General Officer Commanding, who distributed the prizes at the conclusion, Commodore Frank Elliott, O.B.E., R.N., and Mrs. Elliott, and Lt. Col. H. B. L. Dowbiggin, O.B.E.

LADY CHAMPIONS' FIRST WIN

Recreio Beaten In Caer Clark Cup

The Hong Kong Ladies' Champions of the Caer Clark Cup Hockey League, recorded their first win in the tournament yesterday when they defeated the Recreio Ladies by two clear goals at Happy Valley.

The game was devoid of any good play, being very scrappy throughout.

Mrs. A. Jacks, on the left wing, opened the scoring in the first half when she cut in from the wing to score easily. Soon after Mrs. Harrop added to the score after an individual effort.

Recreio Fail To Hold Nine Opponents

After a goalless first half, the Hong Kong Ladies' second team, who fielded only nine players, defeated the Club de Recreio seconds by 3 goals to 1 in a friendly hockey match on the C.B.A. ground, King's Park, yesterday.

ALMOST ASSURED OF TITLE POLICE SURPRISE LINCOLNS

SAINTS BEAT KOWLOON AND GLASS SETS RECORD

PLAYING brilliant all round football, South China "A" retained their unbeaten record in the premier soccer League yesterday as the result of a smashing, and fully merited, triumph over the Club at the Valley.

With a clear lead over their nearest rivals, South China "B," they are now practically assured of the 1934-35 League Championship.

The Police caused a minor sensation by having the better of the Lincolns in their First Division encounter, while St. Joseph's surprised their supporters by taking full points from Kowloon.

The Recreio swamped the Artillery in a very exciting game which was featured by the return of A. V. Gosano, while the Navy easily accounted for the East Lanes.

IN THE SECOND DIVISION GLASS OF THE ROYAL NAVY PLAYED EXCELLENT FOOTBALL TO SCORE ALL SIX GOALS AGAINST KOWLOON, TO SET A DIVISIONAL RECORD.

POTE-HUNT'S GREAT DISPLAY

At the Valley yesterday South China "A" strengthened their position at the head of the premier league with a decisive win by 5 goals to 1 over the Club. They are now two points ahead of their nearest rivals—South China "B"—and have played the same number of games.

South China were by far the better team, and fully deserved the win, and the score in no way exaggerates their superiority. With the exception of perhaps Pote-Hunt, South China were superior in every department.

At the outset, having gained an early lead, the Club were on top for a few hectic moments, but the pace was so terrific that it just could not be maintained, and South China eventually got the upper hand, after which they were seldom, if ever, in danger of defeat.

The Chinese forwards gave their usual brilliant display, and the inclusion of Wong Mee Shun at inside-right produced a much different result to that of six weeks ago against the Police.

Wong was indirectly responsible for two of his team's goals with perfectly placed through passes.

Fung King Cheong and Tam Kong Pak combined well, while Ip Pak Wah, in his regular position at outside-left, was at the top of his form. Tso Kwai Shing proved very tricky on the right wing.

The halves were quite capable of holding the Club forwards, and the outstanding player was Leo Kwok Wai, who stopped Fowler more often than not. Li Tin Sang appeared a bit off colour at the commencement of the game, and did not clear too well, but improved as the game progressed. Lau Mau was steady, while Wong Wing easily cleared the few shots directed goalwards.

One player stood out in the Club team, and that was Pote-Hunt. He played a really good game, despite the amount of work which was thrust on his shoulders.

Andy Duncan paid too much attention to Tso, and as Robertson was not playing up to form, Pote-Hunt was often the one half-back upfield to deal with the advancing Chinese, but he got through a hard afternoon's work with nothing but credit.

Howe was the only forward to impress, and received very little support from his inside men. E. Strange has still to find last season's form. At the beginning of yesterday's game he was on the left wing, with Tavlin inside, but as the positions apparently proved unsatisfactory, they changed places, but without any success. Fowler was good in flashes. He made some good runs down the wings, but, when having cut in, goalwards, invariably centred the ball too far over, and so wasted his efforts.

Syd Strange's Misticks
Syd Strange misticked the ball more times yesterday than he usually does in a dozen matches, and, although no actual goals resulted from them, the Chinese were allowed to advance instead of being normally repulsed.

Gamble was fairly steady, and cleared well, but both backs were subjected to unusual pressure throughout. Rodger, although the score would appear contradictory, played his usual good game, and there was only one occasion when he could possibly have saved—the others were shots that would have passed any keeper.

The Club took the lead very early in the game through Howe, when following a free kick awarded for an offence against Fowler, the Club skipper netted from close range.

Fung had an opportunity of equalising, but, when well-positioned, placed outside. From the goal kick play was transferred to the other end, where Tavlin brought Wong to his knees with a good shot.

South China raided again, and Wong sent Fung King Cheong away with a glorious through pass, which the centre gathered and raced on to crash the ball past Rodger from close range. Play was now centred around the Club's goal area, and South China forced a corner on the left. Tam got to the flag kick, and his shot struck the upright and rebounded into play. During the melee a Club defender handled, and from the ensuing penalty kick Fung King Cheong placed South China further ahead.

Shortly before the interval, during a raid on the Club's goal, the ball came over from the right wing, and, appearing as if from nowhere, Ip Pak Wah scored with a fast ground shot.

Crossing over, the Club made some good efforts to reduce the deficit, and Howe had two good chances. One was well saved by Wong, and the other was yards outside.

At the other end, Tam Kong Pak, accepting a cross pass from Tso, registered South China's fourth goal, and shortly after Ip centered for Fung King Cheong to rush forward and breast the ball goalwards. The ball struck the underneath of the cross bar and bounced down. The Club defenders hotly disputed the point, but the referee was quite firm in his decision.

Penalty Missed
Towards the end of the game, Howe was going through when he was brought down within the penalty area. Pote-Hunt was given the chance of appearing on the flat of goal scorers, but shot yards outside.

South China:—Wong Wing; Li Tin Sang and Lau Mau; Leung In-chun, Leung Wing-chui and Li Kwok-wai; Tso Kwai-shing; Wong Mee-shun; Fung King-cheong; Tam Kong-pak and Ip Pak-wah.

Club:—Rodger; Gamble and Strange (S.); Robertson, Pote-Hunt and Duncan; Fowler, Howe, Tavlin and Strange (E.).

K.C.C. BOWLERS FLOGGED

Though the Club scored 282 runs for the loss of only five wickets in just over 3 hours yesterday against a weak Kowloon attack, the cricket was very dull.The Rev. H. W. Baines, who opened the Colony innings in Shanghai last month, gave the most stylish display, his aggressive forward shots being mainly responsible for his innings of 37, scored out of 102.
He was caught when trying to force the pace.The outstanding feat in the Club innings, however, was the fifth wicket stand between H. Owen Hughes (111) and A. W. Hayward (80) which realised 167 runs. The Colony skipper hit 16 boundaries in his century, while the Club captain has hit 12 boundaries in his undefeated knock.Play will be resumed to-morrow at 11 a.m.

THE SERPENT IN SPORT TO-DAY INTERNATIONAL GAMES BREED DISSENSION

Potential Menace To Peace Among Nations

(By JOHN MACADAM)

THE following article on the menace to peace created by international sporting events, written by a prominent British authority in a leading London newspaper, holds 'topical' interest for Hong Kong in view of the debate on the same subject held at the 'European Y.M.C.A., Kowloon, last Wednesday.

MORE dissension, trouble, strife, and hubbub have been caused in this world in the last year or two in the name of International Sport than by the war, the Treaty of Versailles, and the League of Nations all rolled together.

It is the custom to regard sport as a great leveller; as the quickest cut towards a true democracy and a nice understanding between the nations. So far as cricket on the village green is concerned, that, maybe, is true.

But in the broader field of country against country it is a potential menace to peace, happiness, and friendship. The human race is so constituted, apparently, that the certain way to win another's dislike is to beat him at some game or other.

Test Tour

And not only foreigners... The Australian Test cricketers are this week-end going home after a summer tour whose success was equalled only by its acrimony.

They are of our own blood, and might be expected to see our point of view. Probably they can—anywhere else but on the cricket field.

But cricket is more serious than war or the Commonwealth; jefferson more detestable than the violation of Belgium. These Australians would not have it, and to make sure that they would not have it they were perfectly prepared—so some people would have us believe—to tear the Constitution in pieces.

The Test tour started in a sea of platitudes about cementing the bonds of Empire, and it finished in the same way. But in between, bitterness, misunderstanding, and active dislike reared their ugly heads wherever the cricketers went. The serpent has entered into sport.

Amateurs, Too

It isn't only professional sportsmen who feel so keenly about their means of livelihood that they are prepared to fight for it. The amateurs are just as bad. When was there over an Olympic Games without its dissension?

Last time it was California and Britain accusing America of unfair tactics, and America accusing Britain of the same thing.

The time before it was the Continent and a free-for-all over the question of shantamurism.

Next time there will be some other point, but there will almost certainly be a fight—and a fight that will leave its usual trail of recrimination and bad feeling.

T. O. M. Sopwith is on his way home without the America's Cup to which his yachtmanship, his sportsmanship, and the equality of his boat probably entitled him.

"Never Again"

He is sailing out of a sea of ill-feeling, determined that he will never try again.

There is little doubt that he was robbed of victory by men whose ideas of sportsmanship are different from ours.

Segrave found the same thing when he went over to the United States to try for the land speed record. It is not generally known that when he came back Segrave confessed to his most intimate friends that everything that could be done to make things difficult for him was done.

Ill-wishers on the other side even went to the length of cutting his tyres.

"Out-Smart"

In that way Segrave and Sopwith are perhaps exceptional cases and not fully representative of the point in hand.

The fact is that the American and the Australian and the other fellow thinks that the tactic justifies the result.

If he can out-smart his rival, then he can do no more. It is not necessarily a case of bad sportsmanship. It is a different kind of sportsmanship. What to us is bad is to them perfectly fair and right.

Why? Because it is within the rules.

The difference between us is fundamental; our tendency is not only to keep the rules but to err on the right side of them. Our opponents are satisfied to keep the rules.

If we want to be—for want of a better phrase—Old School 'Tis about our sport, then we deserve to lose. That is what the foreigner thinks.

There is little doubt that Sopwith would have won that vital third race against the American had his opponent been, say, Sir Thomas Lipton or any other British sportsman who would have paid attention not only to the rules but also to the tradition of the sport.

Bad Effect

And so it went on until we had the astonishing sight in the last race of both yachts finishing with protest flags flying. If it finished there it would not be so bad, but the protests are not yet over. Recrimination is still going on and will go on for weeks.

It is the cumulative effect of it all that is so bad—so bad that it has become almost a tradition that Britons competing in any way in America are bound to be out-smarted.

Kaye Don was caught by Gar Wood in his speedboat races; there was the trouble in the Olympic Games in California; and now Vanderbilt is at it.

It is all simply a difference in point of view. Maybe we are too Quixotic to compete in international events. Not that we are always beaten, but that fundamental difference in point of view makes happiness impossible.

Even the recent women's games in London—which might have been regarded almost as a social event rather than a sporting one—ended in unpleasantness, with one team of women accusing another team of women of mannishness. The back-chat is still going on after more than a month.

Football Abroad

Even footballers, solid enough fellows normally, get the fever when they go abroad. No British Soccer team ever returns from a Continental summer tour with anything but disillusionment.

If they win, then they are fouled in every conceivable way until they lose; and if they lose they are jeered and slighted until they have only one desire—to get home.

Not even the hallowed sanctity of the billiards table is safe. Lindrum, the Australian, won our British title last year and decamped with it and the cup.

This year he threw a bombshell into billiards politics by declaring that anybody who wanted the cup could go to Australia and fight for it.

There was a lot of recrimination about that, and finally our two best players went.

Fined Ten Shillings

DRAMA

A New York theatre proprietor recently announced that he was making a public presentation to the greatest actor of 1934. Nine hundred and forty-three actors turned up in person, and forty-nine more sent telegrams apologising for their unavoidable absence.

CHELSEA CAMEO.

He called it "Portrait of a Lady." And the critics said it was no portrait and the women said it was no lady.

THEN AND NOW

Quick Runs

Three savage bulls invaded a Kent cricket ground while a match was in progress. All the players immediately became converts to the log theory.

MODERN MOMENTS

"The last time we were married you nagged me just the same!"

RIGHT FIRST TIME

A postman is goalkeeper for a Third Division football club. Yes, Percy, he plays between the posts.

"I want a drinking trough for my dog."
"Do you want one inscribed 'For the Dog'?"
"No. My husband never drinks water and the dog can't read."

SEASIDE SNAGS

"Many a man met his wife at the seaside," says a writer. That's all right so long as you can explain to her who the girl is you've got with you.

Less Than The Dust

I read that the price of wives is now cheaper than over in Polynesia. But Polynesian wives can cheer up. No Polynesian wife could ever be as cheap as some English husbands I know.

Whiskers, I read, are coming back. Which is, of course, just why I have to shave every morning.

A Good Word

"Please, madam," asked the nurse, "may I have to-morrow off to see my aunt?"

EXTRA NOURISHMENT FOR GROWING CHILDREN

KLIM is particularly good for growing children. It has a rich, natural flavour, a flavour which children like. Moreover it contains the food elements which children must have—full cream, all the curds, whey, casein, enzymes and vitamins.

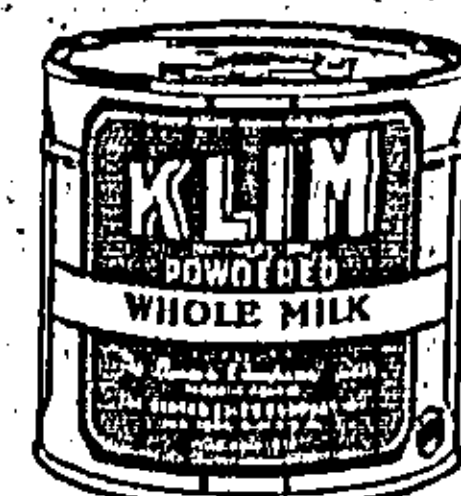

Klim is of unusual value to children who cannot or will not drink enough milk. Klim enables them to EAT milk.

Because it is dry, Klim can be added in increased quantities to such dishes as the children's cereal.

The nourishment of those foods can be increased as much as 100 per cent. in this simple way. This is possible with Klim because of its being practically devoid of moisture.

GIVE your children Klim, to-day.

Klim is a Borden product—Your assurance of a food of the highest integrity.

THE SERPENT IN SPORT TO-DAY

But for a time it looked as if all was up with international billiards, just as it has looked at one time or another that all was up in almost every branch of international sport.

The Rodeo
Foreigners, of course, cannot be blamed for all this trouble, some of which must be laid at the door of our own hidebound sports legislators, as is the case in the recent dispute over the definition of amateurs in America and in England.

Very few American amateurs would be called amateurs if they lived in this country. The same applies to tennis, although there the differences have not blown up into an open dispute.

No, there seems to be something about sport which makes international understanding impossible. You would think that Tex Austin's grand circus show—he calls it a rodeo, but that is what it is really—would have been able to come to London last summer and depart against with nothing more than a few plaudits. Impossible.

Different
First there was the R.S.P.C.A. and then there was the great British public. The R.S.P.C.A. said some parts of the show were cruel and tried to have them banned.

The great British public did not seem to care very much either way, and stayed away.
Instead of regarding this as just one more hazard of the entertainment game the cowboys departed muttering about the slight to America.

The Hungarians have apologized for their outburst of rage and tears when they were licked by our water-polo team at Wembley. But . . . the mud clings.

Boxing is practically the only sport which can be staged internationally without precipitating a world war. From time to time Frenchmen, Americans, and Germans have come here and beaten the best we have.

Carpentier did it; Mickey Walker did it; and now Freddie Miller looks like doing it.

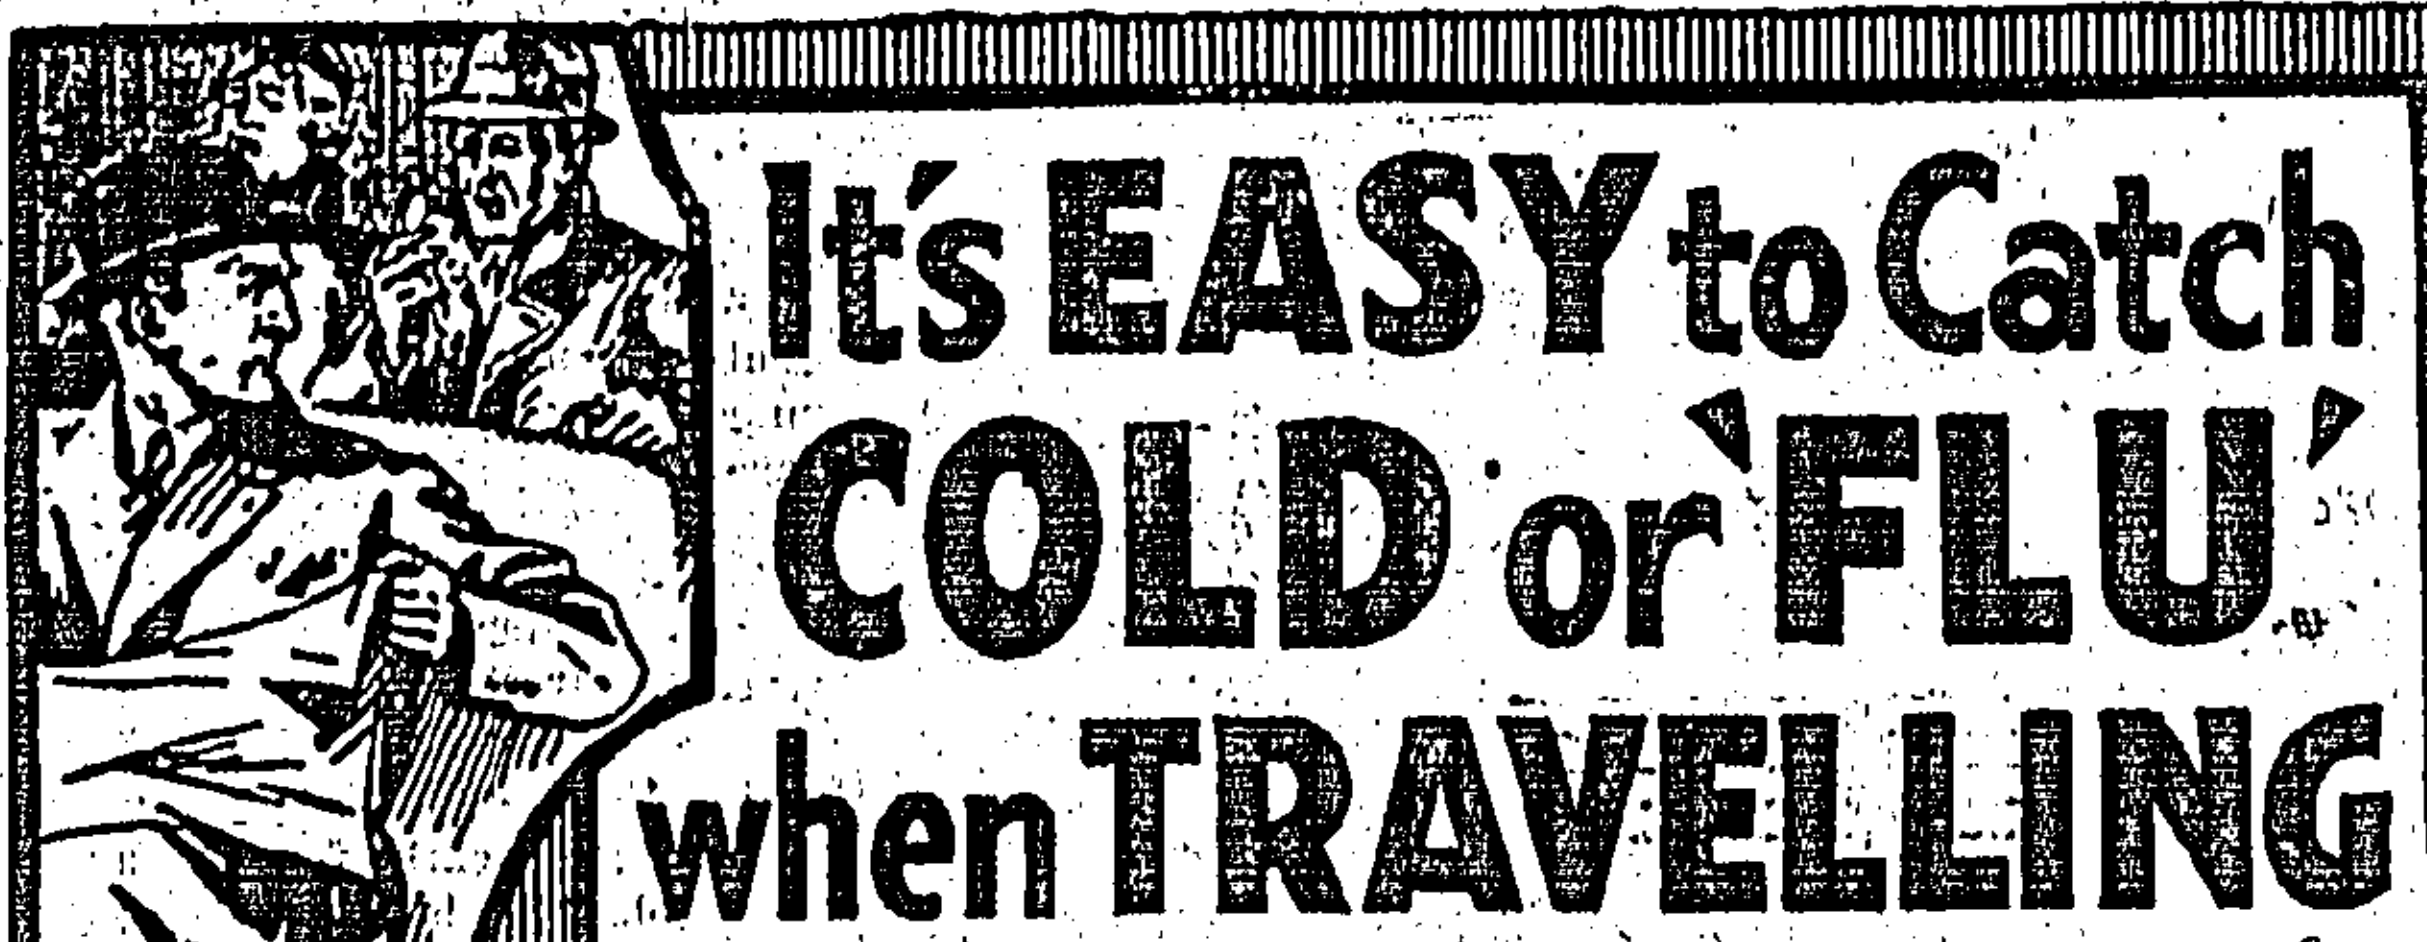

Apart from a slight disappointment our only reaction is to pay in increasing numbers for the privilege of watching them at the slaughter.

But, then, we are different, and, as I have said, have a curious preference for the game rather than the prize. Until other nations feel the same way it might be better for the peace of the world if all these international contests were stopped.

'ASPRO' WILL PROTECT YOU

GERMS are no respecters of persons. Wherever you travel you cannot tell the moment you are likely to catch a cold—or even the 'Flu'. The proved protection is 'ASPRO'. At the slightest sign of sneezing—sore throat—feverishness, etc., take 'ASPRO' according to the directions in the packet. Quick relief is assured, because 'ASPRO' expels the body poisons through the pores of the skin, and, therefore, restores one to normal health by eliminating such poisons and not suppressing them. Furthermore, 'ASPRO' is safe, sure and certain—it neither harms the heart nor stomach, and it conforms to the standard of purity laid down by the British Pharmacopoeia—the guiding authority of the medical profession.

STANCH BELIEVER IN 'ASPRO' NOW—SCPTICAL AT FIRST

Dear Sir,
I thank 'ASPRO' Tablets for warding off influenza from my little boy, aged nine, as well as myself, when my wife, who was then an unbeliever in them, refused to take them, and finished up in hospital with double pneumonia, while we were getting cures but topped them with 'ASPRO' and nothing else.
My wife is a staunch devotee of 'ASPRO' at the first sign of a cold. Wishing 'ASPRO' and its inventor all the good luck they deserve—I am,
Yours faithfully,

Stubborn Cold Goes—PROOF!

Dear Sir,
I thank you for your kind interest in directing me to the certain way to effect a cure to the nasty COLD with which I had been battling for three weeks, during which time I had tried so many other infallible remedies.
On Thursday last I carried out your advice to the letter, and I could hardly believe the fact that on Saturday morning I woke up with no Cold left, nor did I cough through the night as I had been in the habit of doing. At though I have used 'ASPRO' with excellent results for years in relieving HEADACHES, since my first use of it with very much appreciation, that your assurance that 'ASPRO' would break up a Cold or 'Flu' in 24 hours if the directions were properly observed, has been conclusively proven.

THIS DOLLAR - - -

BY "LOOKER ON"

I await the Ferry, still seven minutes before the next... what funny things adverts are... 20 years old, every thing but experience, 60 years old, nothing but experience. Flamboyantly advertising Insurance Companies shrieking at me from advertising hoarding.... savour savor make provision for the future.... play safe.

I am in the early forties, middle age I believe it is called, for years different Institutions have urged me to save and that inherent thrift which was driven into me at childhood has borne fruit—I have striven to provide for the future, to bring to reality that "dream retirement," sitting by the hearth of my own home with the knowledge that my own work has provided this sanctuary for the evening of my days and the children set well for the battle of life without handicap.
What a picture! What a future!
What a goal!

At present I have no wish to retire, a good day's work, my weekend with the youngsters, and a continuance of good health is the sum total of my requirements, together with the certain knowledge that provision is made for my declining days. I have no ambition beyond these things. Am I prosaic and dull? No "Midday" flights into the Stock Markets for risky gain, no vain imaginings of sudden sweepstake fortune, just the monthly budgeting for young Bill's high school expenses, the daughter's finishing school and the wherewithal for my retirement.

After these many years I take stock.... where am I walking?
Is my objective to be gained? Shall I be able to do all that I planned?
And so I commence to analyse my hopes for the future. What is the basis of my storage against my "after work" days? What is my medium of saving? In what form am I making provision? My monthly cheque is in H.K. dollars, a currency which, I am told, is backed by silver which rises or falls, I am also told, in inverse ratio to that of gold.

It does not matter to me if the powers-that-be in America are in a ghastly muddle because they boosted stocks and shares in 1929 to such a high level that ruin faces the holders on return to "cash worth" values. The fact that England goes off the gold standard and makes the pound worth fourteen shillings, or so, does not clarify my understanding of international finance as to what extent it will effect my hard earned savings. Because the war time Allies repudiate their war debts and Germany says reparations in hard cash are not possible, should not mean, to my way of thinking, that a considerable slice of my estate should vanish in direct consequence thereof. Yet, here am I, in an absolute maze of inflation and deflation, which I had not dreamed could come to pass.

This dollar of ours, worth anything around six shillings during the Great War, opened in 1921 with a rate approximately 2/7, 1922—2/2, 1926—1/10, 1927—2/1, 1930—1/6, 1931—1/4, 1932—1/5, and the rest is recent enough to be in the memory of most of us. I have had no feeling of certainty for years, so up and down it has been; no confidence of bank level, no bedrock on which to build. The foundation of my future hope is laid on the shifting sand of an erratic dollar. The Big Men of finance pull the strings on the ends of which is my future, for which I have toiled and schemed;
What care they for my self-denial?
What if the currency of half the world is deflated or inflated, or worthless? So long as the tran-saactions of the world of international exchange is running their way they are satisfied. Who can blame them! certainly not I—if they wish to gamble, then let them;
but do not allow them to interfere with the stolid savor, the man who, after all, is the backbone of a community.

I do not know whether we are supposed to come and work in this Colony for the benefit of the bullion broker, or whether I'm a small commercial cog in one of the branch machines which is working merely for the honour (sic) of providing the Banks with material for monetary juggling; but I do know that I was once under the impression that if a man put by his monthly percentage (often at the expense of foregoing pleasure) he must have had sufficient faith in that money's purchasing power to bear some resemblance to its "save" value.

Perhaps I was wrong—perhaps I ought to have spent every cent, and at the end of my "useful" life to the Colony I should return to my "native heath" and become an inmate of a gloriously beneficent Government's Poorhouse. ....
..... and the Ferry bell rang..... and people ran.

Mrs. J. J. Hayden is to distribute the prizes at the annual inter-Catholic Schools' athletic sports at the S.C.A.A. ground, Caroline Hill,

THERE IS THE SHADOW OF A MAN BEHIND EVERY WOMAN

THIS is the task to earn the family bread. Hers to bake it. Neither can work alone. So the homemaker goes about her duties with the knowledge that some one to whom she owes her best efforts depends upon her skill. Tired and in need of his dinner, the breadwinner comes home. What is more gratifying than home-cooked food, especially home-made breads or a feathery cake.

BUT how is the housewife to achieve all this? Not every cook-boy is a baker too, and it is her lot to prepare the special dishes. Simpson's Self-Raising Flour is the answer to all her questions. Quick - - - easy to use - - - risks eliminated. Most important of all - - - no time wasted in measuring and mixing. And no chance of a mistake.

No wonder our home-maker smiles as she reaches for the package of Simpson's. She knows how to please that

INTERFERENCE WITH SAAR AFFAIRS

Evidence Against Germany

London, Yesterday. Captain Anthony Eden, the Lord Privy Seal, will represent the United Kingdom Government at the meeting of the Disarmament Bureau at Geneva on the morning of November 20 and at the special meeting of the Assembly, to consider the Gran Chaco question, which is to be held on the same day.

He will also attend a meeting of the Council of the League to be held on November 21 when the Saar question will be under consideration.

It is not yet decided whether the Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon, will visit Geneva for these meetings.

The council meeting will have before it the report, published yesterday evening in Geneva, containing an analysis, by the governing commission, of the activities of the Deutsche front in the Saar. The report is a long one and offers evidence which, it states, sufficiently establishes the continued interference of the German Government in the affairs of the Saar. — British Wireless Service.

GERMAN AMBASSADOR VISITS SIR JOHN SIMON

London, Yesterday. The German Ambassador, Baron Von Hoersch, called at the Foreign Office yesterday afternoon and saw the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon. It is understood that questions connected with the holding of the Saar Plebiscite on January 13 were discussed. — British Wireless Service.

Sydney, and thence, by radio and telephone trunk lines to Barrow, where it will close the power circuit and release the ship, which will immediately glide into the water.

The "Orion" will be the first ship of the British mercantile marine to be launched by wireless telephone.

The new liner will be approximately 24,000 tons gross. She contains gas-tight chambers for the transport of chilled meat from Australia. — British Wireless Service.

DICKENS LIVES AGAIN IN LONDON STREETS

Huge Crowds Watch Picturesque Lord Mayor's Show

London, Yesterday.

Despite almost continuous rain, large crowds gathered in the streets to witness the Lord Mayor's show yesterday.

The central feature of the procession, which accompanied the new Lord Mayor, Sir Stephen Killick, in his famous coach attended by postillions and footmen, to the Court of Justice where the oath was taken, was the pageant of London and Londoners based on four of the novels of Charles Dickens. — British Wireless Service.

TRAVEL CERTIFICATE FORGERY?

Chinese Claims To Have Been Duped

BOARDING-HOUSE KEEPER CHARGED

The case in which Lam Sau-man, a boarding-house keeper, of No. 81, Connaught Road Central, is charged with uttering a forged travel certificate, issued by the Government of the Netherlands to Tsang Ki-hung, was remanded until Tuesday by Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

Defendant, with whom the certificate had been deposited by the complainant, Tsang Ki-hung, was alleged to have uttered a document purported to be the said certificate. Detective Inspector J. Murphy appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. R. H. Coles of Messrs. Hall Brutton and Co. was for the defendant.

It was stated for the prosecution that the complainant arrived in Hong Kong from Holland some time ago and deposited a traveller's certificate with the defendant. He then went to the country. On his return, he asked for the return of the certificate. On one excuse and another, defendant put him off day after day. Finally a certificate, shown in Court, was handed to him by the defendant. This certificate the prosecution allege was not the genuine document.

Ball of $500 was allowed as before.

Government Appointments

His Excellency the Governor has been pleased to appoint the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D., to be, temporarily, an Unofficial Member of the Executive Council in place of the Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, Kt., who is absent from the Colony.

The appointments of Mr. Daniel John Lewis and Mr. Sum Pak-ming, as Members of the Court of the University of Hong Kong, for a further period of three years, with effect from October 26, are gazetted.

Mr. G. de la P. Fitzgerald has been appointed a member of the Advisory Committee of the Hong Kong Volunteer Defence Corps, vice Mr. L. N. Murphy.

Mr. J. L. McPherson has been appointed a member of the Licensing Board for a further period of three years.

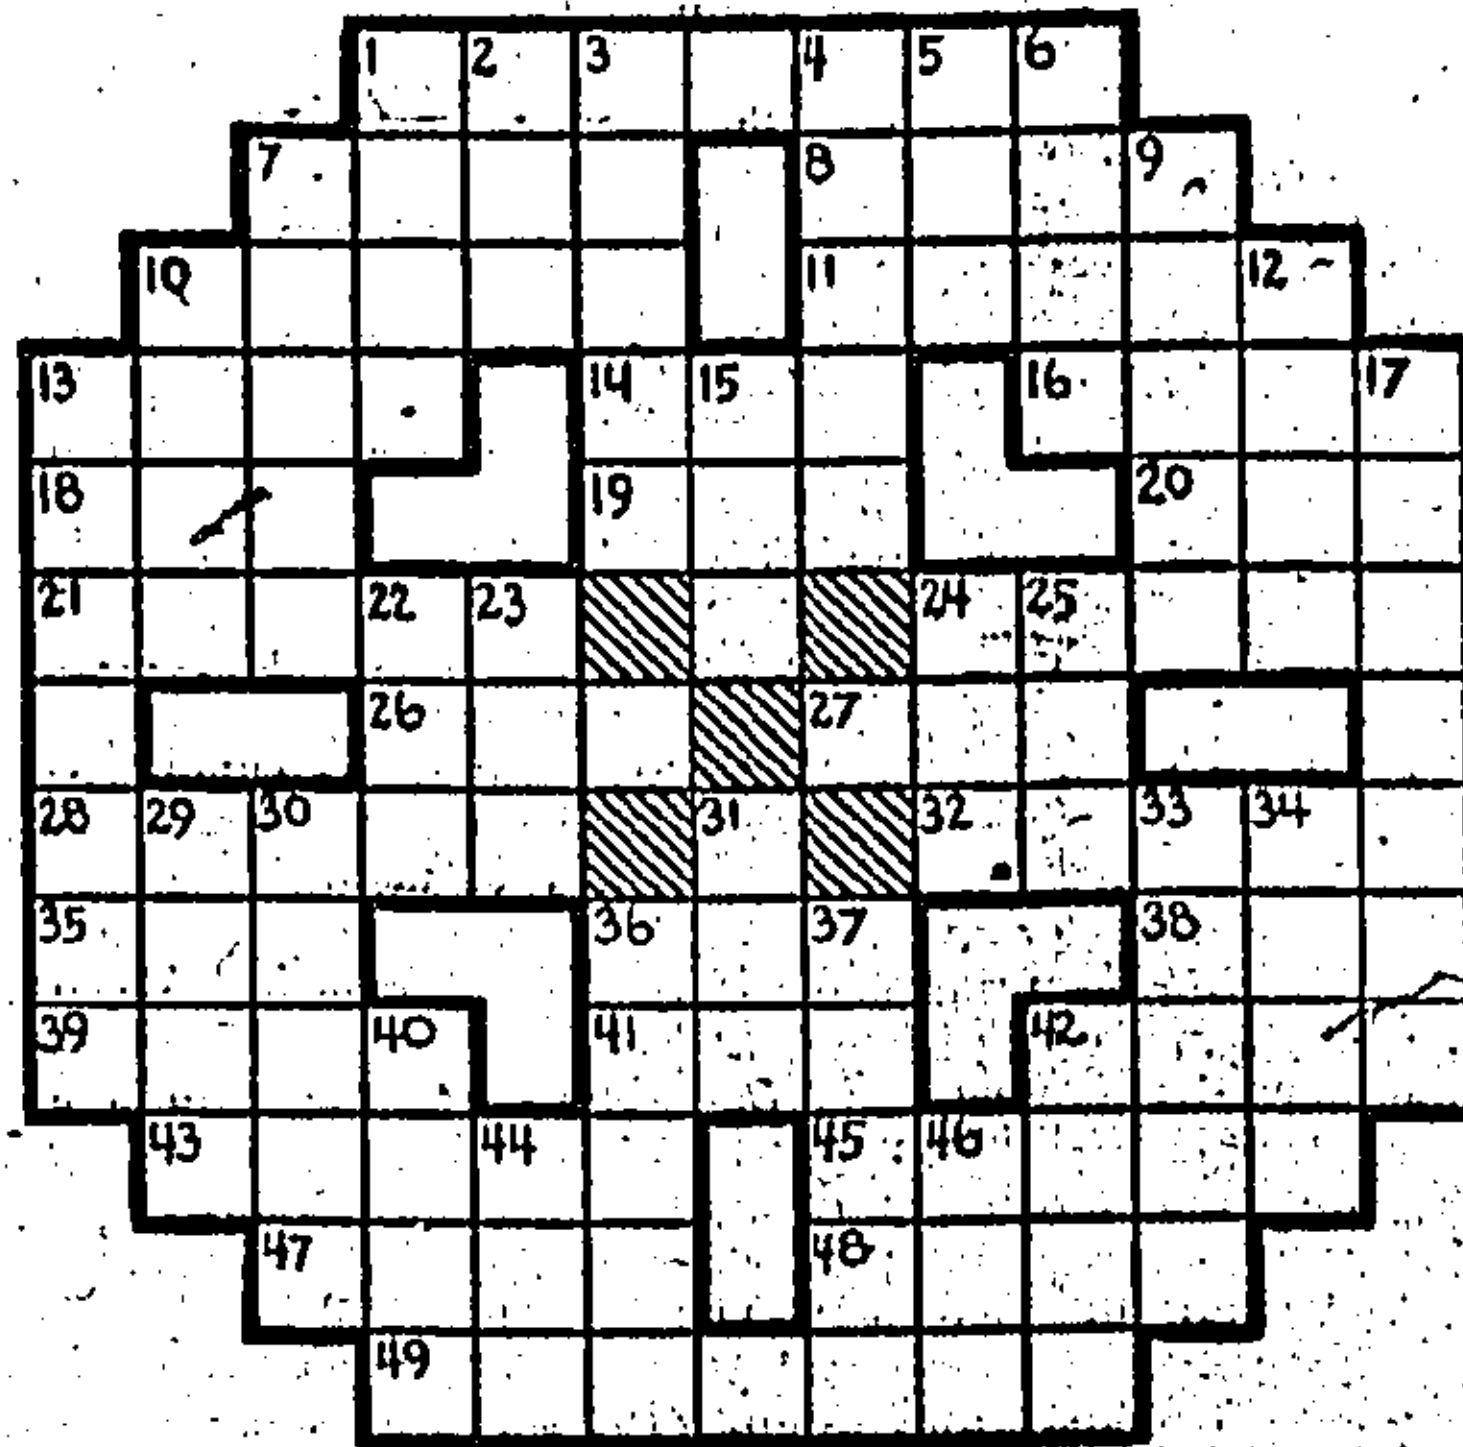

The appointments of Mr. W. Schofield to be First Police Magistrate, and Mr. E. W. Hamilton to be Police Magistrate, Kowloon, are gazetted.

"ONLY LOSERS"

Edwin Lefevre, certainly a most interesting, and perhaps also the most authoritative writer on the New York Stock Market, says, in the "Saturday Evening Post" of February 13th, that in "the market" if you are wise, you must lose, if you are foolish, you must lose, that in the market there is neither wise nor foolish — only losers.

After all, however, it is Your money that you have lost, and if you have another try, you will lose again! And it's nobody's business but your own (if, for the moment, we forget the family).

Isn't it wise to secure a bit of insurance against the market?

The Sixteenth Year

IT is sixteen years since, as a wit once said, "Peace broke out." How do we stand? We have consistently in these columns refused to take any alarmist view of the rumours of wars which so many people seem to take delight in starting and fostering, ignoring the danger of familiarising the mind with an idea which is apt to create the attitude that if a thing is inevitable the sooner it comes the better. There is not at present any conceivable war that would not be both unnecessary and disastrous. Yet the nations are spending thirty per cent. more on armaments and armies than in 1918; and have rejected every plan for proportional reduction either in men or in money. How are we to secure that "moral disarmament" which would dispense with the need for all these interminable negotiations that lead to nothing at all?

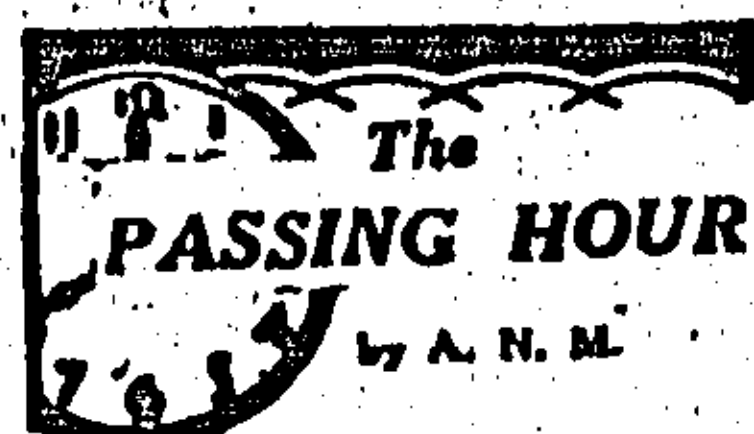

It is beginning to be suggested that after a lapse of so many years Armistice Day is coming to be forgotten, and that the celebration will gradually lapse. It would be a calamity if that were true, for nothing will be gained by forgetting. It is not a day of vaunting or triumph. The older people who remember that thrilling moment when the monotonous interminable boom of guns stopped with a sudden shock of silence had no such emotion even at the time. The World War was a calamity in which all the combatants lost. It came to an end in some way not then accountable by the individual. The unique unification of the whole national effort had the effect of producing a feeling of permanence. Men must just go on getting shot to pieces as long as there were any men left. It was impossible to say why. It was apparently so fated. Then suddenly it stopped. One could eat in safety. There was a chance of a long sleep. Next morning the appalling thought suggested itself, did this mean a return to the office stool? Could one go back, like the hero of Rudyard Kipling's "Mc", to moving the parson's lawn? It had to be done. And it was done in a kind of silent stupor which for some years had the curious effect that the most thrilling experiences of a man's life were the last subject that he could be got to talk about. Was the war just a past event like a finished football season?

It would have been a fantastic mistake to suppose that. Those whose memories enable them to do so can contrast the years before with the years after, and know that nothing has been the same. It is only now that it is being appreciated that some of the deepest chords of the heart of the peoples had been touched. It was a relief to talk once more about things that did not matter; but deep in men's minds there was the question, what was it all about?

The Versailles Conference met and danced and wrangled, and produced a Treaty which on the face of it was impossible to observe in many sections, and in many other sections could be enforced only at the cost of leaving embroils of future strife. What about the "war to end war"? In view of the fate of Montenegro and so on, what about the "independence of the small nations"? It gradually dawned on the public consciousness that nobody knew what was had been fighting for.

Even from the point of view of the soldier the Armistice date was a somewhat arbitrary mark in the calendar. It was after the Armistice that the remnants of the Armenians were wiped out, and that the Greeks of Smyrna were massacred, and new calls were made for fantastic expeditions like "Winston Churchill's war," the ridiculous landing at Murmansk, and the sudden call for men to resist Khamel Pasha to prevent another massacre at Constantinople. Four million peasants perished of starvation in Russia. The casualties of what is called "the war" have been estimated at ten million; but death is death without benefit of calendar, and as many perished as the direct result of the war within the next three years. Is war then the natural state of man, with casual intervals of peace for recuperation? What is the State that it should require us to see our best friends die at our side, without so much as the courtesy of a frank explanation of the reason? What is our religion if it can inspire one people to attack and another to resist attack with impartial blessing?

These are some of the questions that men began to ask when they began to be able to think once more. The trusted leaders have at great length published reminiscences that leave only the impression that the emergency failed to produce any man that was capable of envisaging the whole of the problem, much less of dealing with it. Those questions are still being asked; and they have not been answered. The importance of Armistice Day, or Remembrance Day as it is being called by many, is to remind us that an answer is needed, and that until it is given the world will continue to be restless and incredulous of the old solutions that merely postponed consideration.

THE ADVENT OF THE ARMISTICE

PROBABLY the idea suggested by the word "Armistice" to the inexperienced mind is a compound of the dictionary sense of the word and the impression derived from a military parade. Hark, the bugle sounds, and all is still. In reality even in a small war the order "cease fire" takes some time to get to all the units, and men who are in the middle of a job are accustomed to finish it. In a war that is world-wide the news takes quite a long time to penetrate, and is often received with incredulity. "Go on. Where did you find the rum ration? It's only a rumour," and so on. Considering how very tolerant the laws of war are of stratagems it is not wonderful if some of the responsible commanders require quite a lot of evidence before they will issue the necessary orders. Perhaps the hardest to convince—that his adventures were actually at an end was the Commander of the German forces in East Africa, General von Lettow-Vorbeck. His tactics throughout the whole four years had been to avoid any decisive engagement, and by a rapid guerilla campaign to cause as much worry and expense as possible. Chased out of German territory, now called the Tanganyika Territory, he followed devious routes through the Portuguese Colony of Mozambique, with occasional surprise descents on outlying forts which had recently been provisioned. Driven thence by a mobile column, he retreated to a remote and dry corner of Northern Rhodesia, and his pursuers decided that as long as he was content to stay there all was well. They therefore left him alone and the first communication he received from the larger world was a messenger with a white flag who informed him that the war was finished three weeks and two days after the 11th November had brought release from anxiety to other parts of the world. He refused to believe a word of it; but in the end agreed to stay where he was till he had orders from his own Government. In another ten days or so these arrived, and he departed with all the honours of war.

SURRENDERS
FOR the individual of course the end of the war sometimes came by way of capture or surrender; and it would be a great error to suppose that this was always so unwelcome as in a short and stirring campaign. A long spell of discomfort and bad health produces a very distinct tendency to "war-weariness" which amounts almost to a specific ailment, even in those who are anxious to continue in

WHEN FLYING WAS ALL RISK REMINISCENCES OF THE EARLY DAYS

A THIRTY-YARD HOP WORTHY OF NOTICE

(By Captain De Havilland)

FLYING could be a thrilling and fitting, but the other components were more the outcome of ingenuity than anything else. Plane wire, wood and linen were the principal materials used for the construction of the machine. The rolling wheels were taken from a motor-bicycle.

I thought at the time that practical knowledge of aeroplane construction was better than theoretical. So, although I was unable to fly, I realized that the only thing to do was to construct a machine in some form, test it, and learn to fly from experience.

A friend and I spent about eighteen months building the craft, and at last it was finished. We took it down to the country near Newbury, where a man had bought an aeroplane but for an aeroplane he never acquired.

The site was ideal for testing our plane, because there were miles of open country.

We assembled the machine and started the tests, but they did not arouse any great amount of interest, because people were terribly sceptical about the flying powers of our machine and although one or two heads occasionally bobbed up over the hedge, they soon disappeared.

Things Happened Quickly.
The machine was taxed along for some time, but showed no inclination to leave the ground.

Many years will pass ere local tennis enthusiasts forget the display on the C.R.C. courts when the French tennis stars, Cochet (world's singles champion), Brugnon, Landry and Rodol held every-one spellbound by an exhilarating display.

The feature of their display was the doubles encounter between Landry and Rodol and the Runjahn cousins which the Frenchmen won by scores of 7-5, 7-5, the local champions fully extending the visitors.

Miss Minnie Lee was married to Mr. Wong Sik-chung, fourth son of Mr. Wong Kam-fuk, J. P., who is a brother-in-law of Sir Robert Ho Tung.

The following members of the Hong Kong Police Force went on Home furlough on the s.s. Macedonia:—Mr. L. H. C. Calthrop, A. S. P., and Sergeants E. R. Cleme, M. Flaherty and R. J. Hunt. Accompanying her father is Miss Doris Hunt, one of the well-known swimming sisters.

Exactly 4,000 Christmas parcels were despatched Home by the s.s. Macedonia.

In the Interport Cricket match between Hong Kong and Shanghai, E. C. Fincher scored 55 out of a total of 114, while Shanghai scored 181 for 5, F. E. T. Marshall and P. Madar scoring 52 and 39 not out, respectively. D. W. Leach took 5 Hong Kong wickets for 17 runs.

REMEMBERED

He was Black; He was White; He was Yellow;
He was all the Colours right from A to Z;
But make what his Colour was, he was a splendid fellow;
Now he's under where the Poppies bloom, He's Dead.

On this Day in November we Owe and All remember
The Darkness and the Death and fearful gloom,
And the agonizing look as his last farewell he took.
Then we put him in the ditch, death Poppies Bloom.

He was Black; He was White; He was Yellow;
The colour of the Poppy, it is Red;
A Symbol of that Flood, the Colour of the Blood,
That flowed so free from Heroes who are Dead.

Now He's underneath the Sod on which He fought for Right and God,
And didn't care a hang for Crack 'o Doom;
He did his very best; now he takes his well earned rest,
Just down under where the Flanders Poppies Bloom.

MR. D. DRUMMOND

This is the fifteenth of the exclusive "Sunday Herald" series of sketches of leading Colony residents by Mr. A. S. Korya, the talented Hungarian artist.

MR. David Drummond, who controls the operations of the Canadian Pacific Steamship services in the Orient, has had wide experience in shipping. He started his career in 1899 with the old Allan Line Steamship Company, in Glasgow. In 1910 he was transferred to London as secretary to the Chairman, and was subsequently appointed London Secretary for that Company.

During the latter part of the war, while acting as Embarkation Staff Officer for the Canadian Forces at United Kingdom ports, he had his first meeting with the "Empress of Asia" and "Empress of Russia," then employed as troopships.

The Allan Line, in the meantime, was absorbed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Mr. Drummond, in 1919, joined the Canadian Pacific Steamship service at Liverpool, and there held the positions of Freight Claim Agent and General Freight Agent for Europe.

He was appointed General Agent at Southampton when the Company inaugurated a service from that port in 1922.

POLISH YOUTHS ON "TOUR"

Not Wanted In Colony, Canton Or Macao

After having been dismissed on a charge of entering the Colony without a passport on Friday, Peter Herblum, and Enik Jackson, two Polish youths, were yesterday morning charged before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy, with being vagrants in the Colony.

On the application of Sergeant Russell, accused were sent to the House of Detention until arrangements are made to send defendants away.

Accused were originally sent to Macao by the Canton authority. Not being wanted there they were sent to the Colony.

When Flying Was All Risk

One day, when the plane was running down hill at full power, it unexpectedly leapt off the ground—and then things happened quickly. I had not learnt to fly, and the machine was quite unstable. The result was a complete crash, but I was unhurt.

Fortunately, the engine was not damaged, and so we took it back to assemble again; so it went on—building and rebuilding the machine, testing it, and eventually learning to fly.

I used to get my assistant to lie on the ground with his eyes on a level with the wheels of the plane, so that we could tell whether the plane was flying or not.

It was something of a triumph even if it only rose six inches from the ground! In those days a hop of 20 or 30 yards was considered a flight worthy of notice.

Scrutinizing The Trees
The extremely elementary nature of aviation at that time can be realized when I say that every morning we air pioneers walked up to the nearest trees, and scrutinized the leaves for a few minutes.

If there was a moderate flutter of the leaves by a breeze, flying was off for the day.

Owing to this wind difficulty flying was usually confined to early morning and late evening. It was not until one or two years afterwards that people started to fly in a breeze.

The trouble was that the capabilities of the engine were needed to the utmost for lifting purposes, and there was no reserve power for battling against the elements. Nor was there the necessary control.

By gradual progress we managed to increase the length of the flights to two or three miles, and by that I had learned to handle the plane pretty well.

It was certainly a hazardous way of learning, but, even now, I think such a method has its advantages.

To-day, the learner is taken up in a dual-control machine with a trained pilot, who instructs him through the telephone in all the rudiments of flying.

Taught In Eight Hours

The pupil learns to fly first, then he learns to "take off" and land. In eight hours or so a normal man, who has had no previous experience can now be taught to fly.

After twenty hours in the air, he is considered moderately experienced, and is quite capable of long flights.

Men who had been doing things in the flying world in those early days were the Wright Brothers, Farman, Sir A. Vernon, Col. Cody, Blériot, to mention a few.

Cross-country flights were never attempted then because of the air-current difficulties and the problem of landing. My early flights of a few miles each were carried out in long stretches, of open country where, if necessary, a forced landing could be made almost anywhere.

Some designers were planning aeroplanes which were as fantastic as a Jules Verne story. There were machines which the inventors hoped would fly on the same principle as birds; there were "machines" which were combinations of balloons, aeroplanes and helicopters.

Nevertheless, the important thing is that the fundamental principle of the flying machine in its elementary design, is intrinsically the same as it is to-day.

Engine Developments

It is all evolved round an engine which turns a propeller, and pulls or pushes an inclined plane through the air.

The development has been on normal lines. A machine must look clean in design; the better the streamlining the faster the machine will go.

The war was responsible for a speedy development of the heavy type of aircraft, but it retarded the progress of commercial private and international flying.

Flying as a means of travel has passed through rapid stages during the last few years.

The air route to Paris is now cheaper than travelling by boat or train. In Africa, flying is considered the only sensible way of getting about. The air liners which travel from Nairobi to Cairo—a distance of 3,000 miles—are booked up for weeks ahead.

The air route takes a third of the time of the ordinary sea and land travel.

Although aeroplanes have not been widely used to carry goods, there is a good example of the value of the aeroplane as a transport vehicle in certain circumstances.

In New Guinea, there are some gold mines situated on the far side of a mountain range. The road route would take three weeks. Aeroplanes can do the journey in half an hour, and they have taken over machinery weighing, in some instances, over a ton.

There's modern development for you!

LANDLORDS PAYING FOR DEFENCE

CANTON COLLECTION FOR AIR UNITS

$3,000,000 EXPECTED

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Canton, Yesterday. The police authorities are today collecting two weeks' rent from landlords as a contribution for the air defence of Canton.

After the work is completed on December 31, property owners will have to contribute another two weeks' rent on January 1, 1935.

About $4,000,000 was yielded in the last rent tax about 18 months ago, but in view of the many empty houses and reduction of rent this new levy may not net more than $3,000,000. This sum will be used for the purchase of more aeroplanes, anti-aircraft guns, and other weapons.

Canton is the only place in China where landlords are required to donate a month's rent from time to time. This levy brings in the largest sum of money in the shortest time. Each police station is responsible for the collection from houses within its jurisdiction.

"WONDERLAND" FETE AT KOWLOON

had not taken a very active part in St. Andrew's Church life of late, both Mrs. Lindsell and he were old Kowloon residents. They had spent many happy years in the "Wonderland of Kowloon," he added.

It was not surprising that, with the growth of Kowloon, the Church authorities had felt an urge to extend their activities, for Kowloon, like "Alice," was ever growing and never getting any smaller, he said.

Mr. Lindsell then recited the following parody for the occasion. "Will you please roll up in hundreds said the Vicar to Kowloon. There'll be others close behind you so you can't get here too soon. You can really have no notion how delightful it can be, To visit all the stalls and shows and then sit down to tea."

To St. Andrew's then, you parents with your children all repair.

Now don't revoke, beloved folk, but come and join the Fair. Will won't you, will you, won't you, etc.

Of course you will and have."

It is my great honour, concluded Mr. Lindsell, to invite the young lady, selected from the crowd of competitors to be the Patron Goddess of your "Wonderland," to open the Fair.

ALICE'S WELCOME

Alice then made her address of welcome, reciting the long speech without hesitation in a clear voice.

Gentlemen, Ladies and Chairman, —Oh dear, I feel that that is the wrong way round to begin with, but just everything has been topsy-turvy since I went down that rabbit hole. And now I have been asked to open this Fete this afternoon which of course is most topsy-turvy because I am sure it is the custom for a grand lady to open bazars and fetes and all that sort of thing, and not a girl of my age.

But then after drinking that bottle marked "Drink me" I distinctly remember getting very much bigger so perhaps I am a grown-up lady after all. I cannot attempt, though, to explain myself, because I am not myself. Things are all queer to-day whereas yesterday, everything went on as usual.

I almost remember feeling a little different when I got up this morning and I certainly feel very different since coming up in the procession. However, this, as you know, is my Fete this afternoon and it is my fate to open it. I didn't mean that to be a joke, but somehow I just can't help saying things like that since I began my adventures.

And now I am thinking about something that makes me forget to talk. You will have lots of fun in this Wonderland. The March Hare is here, but as it is November perhaps he won't be quite so mad as he was in March. It is always tea-time too at the Mad Hatter's Tea Party, but they have no time to wash things between whiles so they keep moving round and they ask what happens when they come to the beginning!

And there are scores of lovely things to have, but as we have had nothing yet we can't take more. I mean we can't take less. It is very easy to take more than nothing away with us.

But I really must try to be sensible or I shall never be understood and then the Fete will never be open. I have been told that the object of this Fete is to raise money for a good cause so I am sure we shall all spend as much as we can because a good cause becomes a Lost Cause unless we give our money to it.

The good people too, who are running stalls and other things have been working so hard that we really must support them. They have been working for six months which is really quite a long time.

In a moment I am going to see the stalls myself, and I am sure you will come with me. I have a strange feeling that this Fete (and certainly my speech) is the stuff that dreams are made of. . . . but as you know, dreams often have a way of coming true.

I have great pleasure then, in declaring this Fete open and I hope you will all enjoy your brief stay in Wonderland.

ALICE THANKED
The Rev. Higgs then thanked "Alice" for her wonderful speech, which must have been nerve-racking to recite before such a large crowd.

He thanked the many concerned for their assistance in making the Fair the success that it was, including the Kowloon Junior School, the hard-working Secretaries, Mrs. Bird and Miss W. Robinson, Captain Petherick, for the design of all the decorations in the Fair, the Punjab

Band for their music during the afternoon and to the Press for the publicity they had given the function. There were a host of others, almost too numerous to mention, he added, and thanked them all, on behalf of the Church, for their assistance.

The Rev. Higgs concluded with the remark that the Fair was like a love match. "Once you get into it, you can't get out without a lot of expense." He hoped that this would be an inducement for everyone to patronise the stalls freely.

Miss Alice then made an official tour of the stalls in the Church grounds which were then announced to be open.

Among the many prominent guests present were, the Right Rev. Bishop Hall and Mrs. Hall, Mr. W. H. C. Robinson, Major C. M. Manners, O.B.E., Mr. and Mrs. W. Shannon (parents of "Alice"), Lt. Col. M. Macpherson and Mr. and Mrs. B. Wyllie.

BRIGHT STALLS

A tour of the many stalls in the Church grounds, which all were named after characters in "Alice in Wonderland," revealed a host of attractive articles for sale. The competitions of chance and skill on the Church lawn were a source of much amusement to the children who patronised each and every one.

Afternoon tea, to the accompaniment of music supplied the Punjab Band, in the "Mad Hatter's Tea Garden," was enjoyed before visiting the "Alice in Wonderland" scenes produced by the pupils of the Kowloon Junior School.

In the evening a Whist Drive and Dance was held in the Church Hall, the attendants in the fancy dress costumes giving a gay touch to the function.

PRIZE PRESENTATION

At the conclusion of the Dance, which followed the Fair, the Rev. J. R. Higgs, M. A., President of the Fete, congratulated Miss Joan Shannon on making a very charming Alice in Wonderland and for the manner in which she carried out her arduous task throughout the day. He then presented her with the first prize in the Alice in Wonderland Competition.

Miss Dawn Digby, who came second in the competition, was also the recipient of a prize.

WHIST DRIVE WINNERS

Mrs. Johnston won the first prize in the Women's Section of the Alice in Wonderland Whist Drive, held on Friday night in the Church Hall, while Mrs. Bradberry came second, and Mrs. Morley secured the Booby prize.

their duty. One enemy officer who had fallen out with blistered feet made for a very thick clump of forest and prepared to take his breakfast in the most leisurely comfort. He had spread his rainproof mat on the ground; found a comfortable log to sit on; and opened up the whole of his remaining rations. At that stage an interruption was caused by the appearance of a sergeant and six men. "Hello, who are you?" "A British sergeant, sir, and you are my prisoner." "Thank God, I can finish my breakfast in peace then." Nothing more was said for half an hour, when he invited his captor to finish up what was left.

HARD CASES

THE cruellest hard luck of all is to be killed after the "cease fire" has sounded, by some belated rifle shot fired in ignorance of the news. It happened in several cases on the Western front when joyful men showed themselves too soon. In one of the "side-shows" a Colonel who had escaped unscathed from many perils, earning the D.S.O. with two bars, celebrated the day by an extra clean up of the camp which he was to evacuate the next day, saw a Mills bomb lying on the ground, and stopped to point out the danger of such carelessness. While he was speaking the bomb exploded, and he was killed.

A POST-ARMISTICE FIGHT

GOING back a few years to the Armistice in the Boer War, a quaint incident that has never been mentioned in print so far as I have seen, may be recalled. General Smuts, in command of a guerrilla column, arrived at a small mining town in an out of the way part of Namaqualand, which was easy for even a small garrison to hold owing to the defensive convenience of the mining dumps. As he was at the time State Attorney of the Transvaal he was advised, very confidentially, that the Boers had decided to ask for peace; and he must hold himself in readiness to go to Vereeniging with a special safe-conduct which would be sent to him. Under the circumstances he did not think it worth while to waste life in an attack, and there followed a long three weeks of inaction. Actually a challenge to the besieged to play a football match was sent in, and was only rejected by the O.C. after an hour's debate with the junior officers. Then the safe-conduct arrived, and the General departed without any explanation. The younger officer to whom he handed over was out for glory, and three days after the armistice had been signed, but before news had arrived, he attacked and was repulsed with the loss of seven men.

Memorial Arch will be lined by Special Police Reserves, and a detachment of District Watchmen will parade under Inspector Andrew.

DARING COSSACKS AT CIRCUS

Clever Horsemanship Demonstrated

Daring horsemanship by the troupe of Kuban Cossacks is one of the outstanding items on the programme offered by Isako's circus, now performing at Wanchai. In their colourful tsherkesskas and hoary lambskin headgear these four clever riders last night earned unstinted applause by their skilful riding and cleverly executed tricks. Working their mounts to a frenzy with barbaric cries each tried to outdo the other in daring riding with foot-long swords in their mouths, being dragged along the sanded arena, standing on their heads in the saddle and climbing under the stomach of their mounts at full speed. These and other tricks make a visit to the Isako circus well worth while.

Twenty-eight cases of cholera were reported in Calcutta during the week ended November 3.

BRITISH PREMIER'S ELOQUENT SPEECH AT GUILDHALL BANQUET

REVIEW OF HOME AND FOREIGN AFFAIRS

ARMAMENT SITUATION

London, Yesterday.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, replying to the toast of His Majesty's Ministers at the annual Lord Mayor's Banquet at the Guildhall last night, reviewed home and foreign affairs. He spoke with greater vigour and more marked and clearer enunciation than last year, showing that his health had benefited from his trip to Canada.

HE EMPHASISED THE ACHIEVEMENT THE GOVERNMENT IN REDUCING UNEMPLOYMENT BY NEARLY 1,000,000. BUT MUCH, HE SAID, REMAINED TO BE DONE. HE EXPRESSED THE GOVERNMENT'S DETERMINATION TO SOLVE THE PROBLEM OF DEPRESSED AREAS, AND TO ABOLISH SLUMS AND OVERCROWDING.

He said that the Government's foreign policy continued to be inspired by the conviction of the practicality of a peace policy steadily and wisely pursued.

The Government, he said, had not wavered in its support of the League. Mr. MacDonald welcomed the entry of the Soviet and deplored the absence of Germany. He said that the Government would not cease to impress the Germans that they were not doing themselves justice thereby, and referred to the crisis in the European situation in the past few months.

He emphasised Great Britain's efforts on the side of peace, and assured that these services would continue as long as the Government lasted.

He referred to the disappointment at the results of the Disarmament conference, and said that the Government would continue not only to try to preserve what had been gained, but to secure agreements in ways that would be still open even if no formal conference was sitting.

Naval Understanding For World Peace

Mr. MacDonald continued: "The time has come for the reopening of the books of the Washington and London Naval Treaties. I can say nothing final about the preliminary conversations except to warn you that the newspapers on this subject are far from being inspired."

"Japan, the United States, and ourselves, all desire an agreement which will not jeopardise the safety of any of us and will not deprive us of the power of defence that we must maintain."

"I speak of three Powers because we three are negotiating, but in the scope of arrangements I think of France, Italy and the other naval Powers as well."

"A naval understanding between naval Powers, protecting us from useless and extravagant building, enabling us to feel happy both in security and defence, would be one of the most conspicuous marks on the road to peace that our generation can hope to erect."

In the meantime, we must take steps to secure this so that if we are met by aggression we should at least be in a position to defend ourselves."

The Premier referred to the example which Britain had shown in Disarmament, and said, "Our experience has proved that in the present state of mind, world Disarmament, by example, is not an effective way to reduce arms or to increase international confidence and so strengthen peace."

National Arms Scale The Solution

"I believe, with all my heart, that the first and last word in security is an international agreement on the scales of national arms, and the lower the scales the greater the security of nations. If, however, this agreement is refused, defence requirements must be met in a way which would put the non-aggressive purpose of the nation beyond question."

The Handy Hunter competition commenced with a jump over a bush fence, an 'in and out' corral, another jump with post and rails, over a stone bridge, over a wall, once again over post and rails and a stop by the judge before proceeding to the finish.

In the Shopping Race, the competitors, lined up at the end of the Polo field and were each the recipient of a piece of paper with the name of some article on it. After the start had been given, they raced away to a pile of articles to look for their particular object. Finding this, the competitors galloped back to the starting point and handed over the piece of paper and the article to the judge.

In the Gretna Green race for mixed pairs, the partnerships were pointed out a pile of clothing to which they had first to gallop over a small hurdle. Arriving at the pile the pair put on the clothing and rode back hand-in-hand.

Whistling Race Amusement
The Whistling race provided many amusing moments and consisted of mixed pairs. The men were lined up and given the name of some well-known tune on a piece of paper. On being started the men galloped to their lady partners, who were standing behind tables—drank a glass of liquid, ate a biscuit, and then whistled their tune to their partners. The ladies had to guess the tune and gallop back to the judge with the name on a piece of paper.

In the obstacle race, the competitors started from the dismount. On the word "go" the competitors mounted, jumped a flight of hurdles, galloped to a small rail where they dismounted and made the pony jump after them, then mounted and ate an orange while the pony was tethered to some carrots with which the ponies were fed, then on to a bucket of fruit, the latter being picked out by the mouth and laid on the ground. The last part of the competition consisted of unsaddling the pony and riding bare-back back to the finishing line.

Open Jumping Event
The Open Jumping consisted of a bush fence, a gate, post and rails, a stile, over a wall, and over a triple bar.

In the Ricksha Race the mixed pairs were lined up at the end of the Polo ground. On the word "Go" the pairs galloped to the other end of the ground, turned their ponies over to grooms and then with the lady in the ricksha, the man pulled them to the finishing line.

A WONDERFUL visit to Australia is promised Kwok Chun-hang, the Colony and Interport Breast Stroke Swimming Champion, whose prowess in the water has resulted in him being accorded the unique honour of an invitation to participate against Australian and world aquatic champions in the Melbourne Centenary Swimming Championships.

Kwok has been entered for the 100 Yards Breast Stroke Championship of Victoria, the 100 Metres Centenary Championship, and the 200 Metres Breast Stroke Championship of Australia by Mr. Fawcett, Honorary Secretary of the Victorian Amateur Swimming Association.

ON THE TIMES RECORDED BY KWOK, WHICH WERE RECENTLY SUBMITTED TO MR. FAWCETT BY MR. A. G. DONN OF THE H.K.I.A.S.A. MR. FAWCETT IS OF THE OPINION THAT KWOK STANDS AN EXCELLENT CHANCE OF WINNING ALL THREE EVENTS.

There is a possibility that Kwok will also be invited to take part in other events including the 100 Yards Backstroke and water-polo.

RECREIO CHALLENGE TO MACAO
Fourth Team To Seek Hockey Laurels

MATCH AT MACAO TO-DAY

The Club de Recreio's hockey team, as the fourth local team to visit Macao with the hope of conquering the yet invincible Macao Club team, leave to-day by the 9 a.m. steamer.

The Portuguese team, which defeated every local side that visited their Colony last season, has so far proved superior to all challengers this season. The Radio, however, gave them a very good fight in the opening match, sharing two goals. Macao, however, defeated the Officers of H.M.S. Eagle by 7-0 and the Royal Corps of Signals by 5-0.

The Club de Recreio eleven is a very strong side, the defence in particular being exceptionally sound. W. A. Reed and Dr. A. M. Rodriguez are the two notable players in the team. The Gosano brothers, prominent footballers, are also in the forward line.

The following is the team making the trip:—H. M. Britto; A. A. Remallos, Dr. A. M. Rodriguez; J. Goncalves, W. Reed (Capt), P. Nolasco da Silva; G. A. Guterres, H. A. Alves, A. V. Gosano, N. Beltrao and B. T. Gosano.

There was no scoring in the second half, although the Recreio ladies very often went close.

The following were the teams:—
Hong Kong Ladies:—B. Hanco; E. M. Gray, J. Smalley; E. O'Hagan, B. Pope, B. Heffling; V. Blackburn, H. Hanco, Mrs. P. M. Harroon, C. Ferguson and Mrs. A. Jacks.

NAVY ROUT LANCS BY 5 TO NIL

Military Field Weak Combination

CHANGES IN NAVY SIDE

The East Lancs received a shock at King's Park yesterday, when the Navy routed them to the tune of five goals to nil.

The Navy made several changes from their winning combination of last week. Bowers came in at right-back, while in the forward line, Baxter, Stanley and Golding were newcomers, taking the places of Howells, Strong and Wearmouth.

The East Lancs team was weakened, owing to the fact that several of the players had quite recently been inoculated, and were probably not feeling at their best.

Just before the interval Golding ran in from an unmarked position and gave Oxford no chance to give the Navy the lead.

The East Lancs went near on several occasions in this half, Horner, Lawton and Elliott firing in shots which Popper saved well. Horner missed a golden chance by shooting badly from a good position.

Navy Supreme

After the interval, there was only one team in it. From the kick off, the Navy went down the field, and Oxford allowed a weak shot by Stanley to slip through his hands. Immediately on the resumption of play, the Navy attacked and Cannell added the third goal from a beautiful centre by Baxter.

Biddings had bad luck with a splendid shot which hit the crossbar, and Elliott shot straight at Popper from close in. These were the only times the soldiers appeared likely to score.

From another fine centre by Baxter, Golding ran in and headed the fourth goal, and shortly afterwards Cannell missed from Golding and scored the fifth and last goal.

East Lancs:—Oxford, Swain, Gorman, Power, Smith, North, O'Donnell, Lawton, Horner, Riddings and Elliott. Navy:—Popper, Bowers, West, Pyatt, McGuire, Love, Baxter, Smith, Cannell, Stanley and Golding.

POLICE MAKE GREAT RECOVERY

Two Goals Down But Win By 3 To 2

LINCOLNS DROP POINTS

Played at a remarkably fast pace, the encounter between the Police and Lincolns resulted in a win for the former by 3 goals to 2.

The Police opened shakily as the result of a first-minute goal by the Lincolns. They were not long in recuperating, however, and improved as time progressed, until in the later stages of the game, backed by considerable vocal encouragement, they showed a definite superiority over the Lincolns in attack and defence.

Within 30 seconds of the opening whistle, the Lincolns took the lead. Straight down the field from the kick-off, Higgins made a great effort for goal with his head; McCarthy stopped the ball, but punched rather weakly and Higgins, recovering, headed the ball back into the net.

Stevens and T. Pile then had very close efforts at the Lincolns end, but were unsuccessful. The Lincolns went further ahead when Baldry intercepted a clearance by McCarthy and deflected the ball into the goal.

After many quick interchanges of play the Police went away on the left and Johnson culminated a nice movement when he beat Meakin with a rising shot.

After the interval, play continued evenly for some time until Greene sent in a long shot which Meakin misjudged, the ball slipping through his hands over the line to give the Police the equaliser. From this moment the Police showed their true form, Johnson eventually giving them the lead after beating several players.

Police:—McCarthy, Blackman, C. Pile, Brooks, Gough, Parker, T. Pile, Stevens, Johnson, Moss and Greene. Lincolns:—Meakin, Ash, Edmundson, Maughan, Dudley, Roberts, Baldry, Malpas, Higgins, Ridley and English.

First Division

A. GOSANO RETURNS AND RECREIO WIN

Gunners Well Beaten By Speedy Team

ALVES SHINES ON WING

In an interesting match on the Chatham Road ground the Recreio beat the Royal Artillery by 6 goals to 2.

The Recreio had a strong team out and were seen at their best. They succeeded in netting four of their six goals before the interval without reply. The most interesting pair on the field, perhaps, were the Gosano brothers: A. V. Gosano was in the centre forward position while on his left was Bertie Gosano. The pair played a splendid game throughout and were undoubtedly instrumental in the Gunners' defeat. It was a pretty picture too, to see J. Alves, perhaps the youngest member of the team, doing long and speedy runs on the left wing. It was this superb speed of the Recreio players combined with accurate passes that had the Artillery baffled.

Gomes Opens Scoring

The first goal of the game came from a well directed shot by Gomes from some seven yards out. Castillo was responsible for the second. The ball had just previously been cleared by Hopkins, but a faulty pass in a dangerous moment for the Gunners gave Castillo his chance and he scored with ease.

Then came a serious bombardment on the Gunners' goal and lively encounters resulted in two goals being scored against them in as many minutes! B. Gosano sent in a smart shot which struck the post, and Gomes, from the rebound, flashed the ball into the net before Durham had regained his position. The fourth goal came from Alves who had been playing a creditable game on the wing.

Two Artillery Scores

After the interval the Recreio scored again through Castillo. It was perhaps the smartest goal of the match.

Clough netted the Gunners' second goal with a perfect shot from 15 yards out.

B. Gosano was rewarded when a swift shot from close range saw Durham beaten in the closing minutes.

Recreio:—E. Marques, R. Silva, Netto, O. G. Lopez, N. T. Delgado, N. A. Beltrao, V. H. Marques, T. M. Castillo, B. Gosano, A. V. Gosano, J. Gomes and J. Alves.

Artillery:—Durham, Hopkins, Clough, Harris, Phardoe, Scott, Knight, Hunt, Clough, Edmunds and Smith.

SAINTS WIN BUT CAUSE ANXIETY

Kowloon Make Late Rally

BEST GOAL OF SEASON

St. Joseph's gained two much-needed points when they defeated Kowloon by 2 goals to 1.

The Saints pressed from the commencement of the game and for the first fifteen minutes were not outside Kowloon's half of the field. About ten minutes from the start Ward made a great effort with a fast drive from near the penalty spot, Everest stopped the ball with his chest for Lee to meet it on the rebound and score into an open goal. Cord having dashed out to cover Everest, Ward had bad luck a moment later when he took a fine pass from Fernandez to shiver the crossbar with a terrific drive.

With just a minute or so to go before the interval, Fernandez sent in another fine centre for Lee to score with a fast drive which Cord stopped, but could not hold.

On resuming a change was quickly apparent, Kowloon appeared to have been rejuvenated somewhat, whereas in contrast, St. Joseph's displayed a striking weakness compared with their showing in the first half—they could not control the ball, passes went short or too far, and their previous speed was entirely lacking.

It was not until ten minutes from the end, however, that Kowloon succeeded in reducing the deficit when Knox sent in a terrific

BORDERERS RALLY AND WIN

Athletic Well Beaten

After a goalless first half, the Borderers rallied and finally emerged winners by 2 goals to nil in their match with the Athletic at Happy Valley yesterday.

A quick goal scored after the interval by Simmonds, who received the ball from Solles, gave Borderers the lead.

The Chinese retaliated, but Williams made several fine saves.

The Borderers, however, made sure of victory by registering a second goal. A clever piece of combination between several of the Borderers forwards enabled Solles to pierce the Chinese defence, and score his second goal.

Borderers:—Williams, Rees, Martin, Whelan, Hurns, Thomas, Addison, Simmonds, Thomas, McGeorge and Solles. Athletic:—Li Kwok-kee, Wong Shui-wo, Le Hon-cheung, To Ho-hung, Ng Tak-wing, Fung Man-kit, Tang Kwong-wing, Yeung Kam, Au King-fung, Li Chai-wong, and Chan Chung-yin.

CLUB AGAIN PROVE DISAPPOINTING

Eastern's Easy Win

The Club second string made a poor showing against the Eastern Athletic, losing at home by 3 goals to 1, their point was scored by an Eastern defender!

There was no score during the first half, and the Club defence did well to hold out, but after the interval the Eastern forwards were seldom far away from the Club's goal.

Siu Ning-sing opened the scoring, having been let through by Sloan miscalculating.

Entirely against the run of the play the Club drew level, Duncan's shot being turned into the net by Lai Ting-choi.

The Eastern, however, soon took the lead again, Fung Chai-po scoring with a good shot, while they put the issue beyond doubt when Siu Ning-sing headed through from a corner kick.

Eastern:—Silva, Lai Ting-choi and Fung Yui-wai; Lee Bing-tong, Lau Kim-fai and Ng Ying-kay; Kwok Ying-wai, Fung Chai-po, Cheng Sing-hong, Siu Ming-sing and Subhan. Club:—Payne, Nicholls and Sloan; Stevens, Farrow and Bitten; G. Williams, Fisher, Duncan, Carr and B. Williams.

DOUBLE "HAT TRICK" FOR GLASS

The Navy second string had a field day at Caroline Hill yesterday when they trounced Kowloon by six goals to nil.

The first goal was scored after ten minutes play, Males, placing the ball for Glass to score.

Five minutes later Glass lifted a bouncing ball over Boyes' head to score the second. From the centre-kick, the Navy again ran through for Glass to notch another goal, but he was ruled off-side.

Dodds received the ball from the free kick and centred for Glass to complete his "hat-trick" with a fine header. Fifteen minutes after resuming, Glass placed the Navy further ahead when he sent in a "daisy-cutter" into the back of the net.

The fifth goal was scored five minutes from time after Glass had noticed Boyes out of his goal.

Glass brought his head to the fore again just on time to convert a nice centre from Hinder and complete his "double hat-trick."

AMERICA SMOKES MORE CIGARETTES

New York, Yesterday.—Cigarette production in the United States during October is estimated to be 14 per cent. above October last year, and 8.05 per cent. above September.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

He drive from 30 yards to score the best goal seen in local football this season, it was a "daisy-cutter" all the way and Wong had no earthly chance of stopping it.

St. Joseph's:—Wong, Souza, Leonard, Victor, Costa, Elms, Gill, Lee, Ward, Rocha and Fernandez. Kowloon:—Cord, Everest, Eastman, Glahriat, Biles, Whitehead, Lee, Elliot, G. White, V. White and Knox.

Second Division

UNIVERSITY WIN OVER GUNNERS

Well Deserved Points

At Happy Valley yesterday, the University gained a well deserved victory by 4 goals to 2 over the Royal Artillery.

The opening goal was scored by Goon of the University, but a clever header by Butterfield enabled the Artillery to draw level before the interval.

Blake with one of his brilliant runs down the wing, cut in and scored, and shortly after Goon further increased the lead for the University.

A penalty converted by Morton saw the Gunners reduce the lead, but shortly before time Goon scored another goal to complete his "hat-trick."

Artillery:—Macdrill, Price, Taylor, Worthington, Morton, Birmingham, Rivers, Fisher, Butterfield, Leach and Harman.

University:—Y. W. Ha; Ang, K. Lee; Symonds, H. N. Lee, Lew; Tan, Yung, Goon, Reed and Blake.

Third Division

GLUT OF PENALTIES IN THIRD DIVISION

ALVIS OF SERVICE CORPS ORDERED OFF

A goal before the interval by McGuffan and one just after by Wateridge, enabled the Royal Engineers to beat the Railway by two clear goals, in their Third Division encounter at Kowloon yesterday.

Borderers Succeed

The Borderers secured two points from the Lincolns in the Third Division when they won by three clear goals, scored John (penalty), Chapman and Morgan.

Penalties Missed

The Police had the better of the Royal Army Ordnance Corps in the Third Division yesterday, when they won by an only goal scored by Chui Chui. Both sides missed a penalty.

Radio Defeated

In a fast and keen game the Medical Corps defeated the Radio by 2 goals to 1 in their Third Division encounter. Millington (penalty) and Yood scored for the winners, while Aycock netted the Radio's only goal from the "spot kick."

Player Sent Off

Although playing with ten men at one stage of their encounter with the Recreio, the Royal Army Service Corps emerged winners by an only goal scored by Flood in the last minutes of the game. During the progress of the game Alvis of the Service Corps was given marching orders.

RAILWAY AVERAGE PROVES DISAPPOINTMENT

New York, Yesterday.—Messrs. Dow, Jones railway average to-day stood at 36.33. Chartists assert that it must exceed 39 if the stock market upturn is to prove convincing.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

NEW COMMODORE FOR COLONY

Captain Sedgwick Of H.M.S. Berwick

London, Yesterday. Captain C. G. Sedgwick, who until recently was in command of H.M.S. Berwick in the Far East, has been appointed to H.M.S. Tamar, additional, dating from March 2 next, and in command and as Commodore in charge of the Naval Establishment at Hong Kong in succession to Commodore Frank Elliott O.B.E. Captain Sedgwick will arrive in Hong Kong from England on about April 17.—Reuter.

Very little is known concerning Captain Sedgwick's record by the naval authorities here, except that at one time he was a Commander on the Battleship Revenge. He is also an Instructor in Gunnery.

FRIENDLY GESTURE

JAPAN LIKELY TO APPRECIATE BRITISH PLAN

DAYLIGHT SEEN IN NAVAL TALKS

Embarrassment May Be Avoided

London, Yesterday.

A friendly gesture is expected from Japan at the beginning of next week, when she replies to the British Naval plan.

After Mr. Yamamoto has received full instructions from Tokyo he is expected to express appreciation of the British suggestion for parity for Japan, but will take exception to the suggestion for "quantitative and qualitative adjustments" of categories of capital and auxiliary ships and also the suggestion that each Power will communicate with the others its maximum naval needs.

Although Japan will feel that the British suggestions are unsatisfactory, she will avoid the embarrassment which a negative reply would involve, and substitute the question asking how the naval needs are to be determined.

Meanwhile, the Americans are waiting while the British and Japanese complete their negotiations. The Americans are being informed of the conversations, but their opinion has not yet been asked.—Reuter.

BIG ATHLETIC MEET IN CANTON

To Mark Founding Of Sun Yat-Sen University

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE

Canton, Yesterday. Preparations for the celebration of the 10th anniversary of the establishment of the Sun Yat-Sen University, to be observed to-morrow, are now in full swing.

It is learned that one of the items of the programme will be a three-day athletic meet.

To-morrow will also be the anniversary of the birth of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen. A service will be held in the morning in the Chung-shan Memorial Hall.

All government organs, schools, and business firms have been ordered to fly flags at full mast. There will be no holiday, however.—Central Press.

ROOSEVELT PLANS "FIRESIDE BROADCAST"

Washington, Yesterday.—President Roosevelt has announced that he will make a "fireside broadcast" early in December, indicating that he has discussed agriculture relief.—United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

FIRST TASK TO WAGE WAR ON THE ECONOMIC CRISIS

FOREIGN LABOUR TO BE LIMITED

FAVoured IN BOTH HOUSES

Paris, Yesterday.

The Flandin Government decided, at its first Cabinet meeting yesterday, that its primordial task would be to wage war on the economic crisis.

It appointed a sub-committee to draft economic legislation to be introduced, which will include fresh stringent limitation of immigration and foreign labour.

The Cabinet also adopted Mr. Gaston Doumergue's principle that private Parliamentarians ought not to be able to propose any increase in Budgetary expenditure.

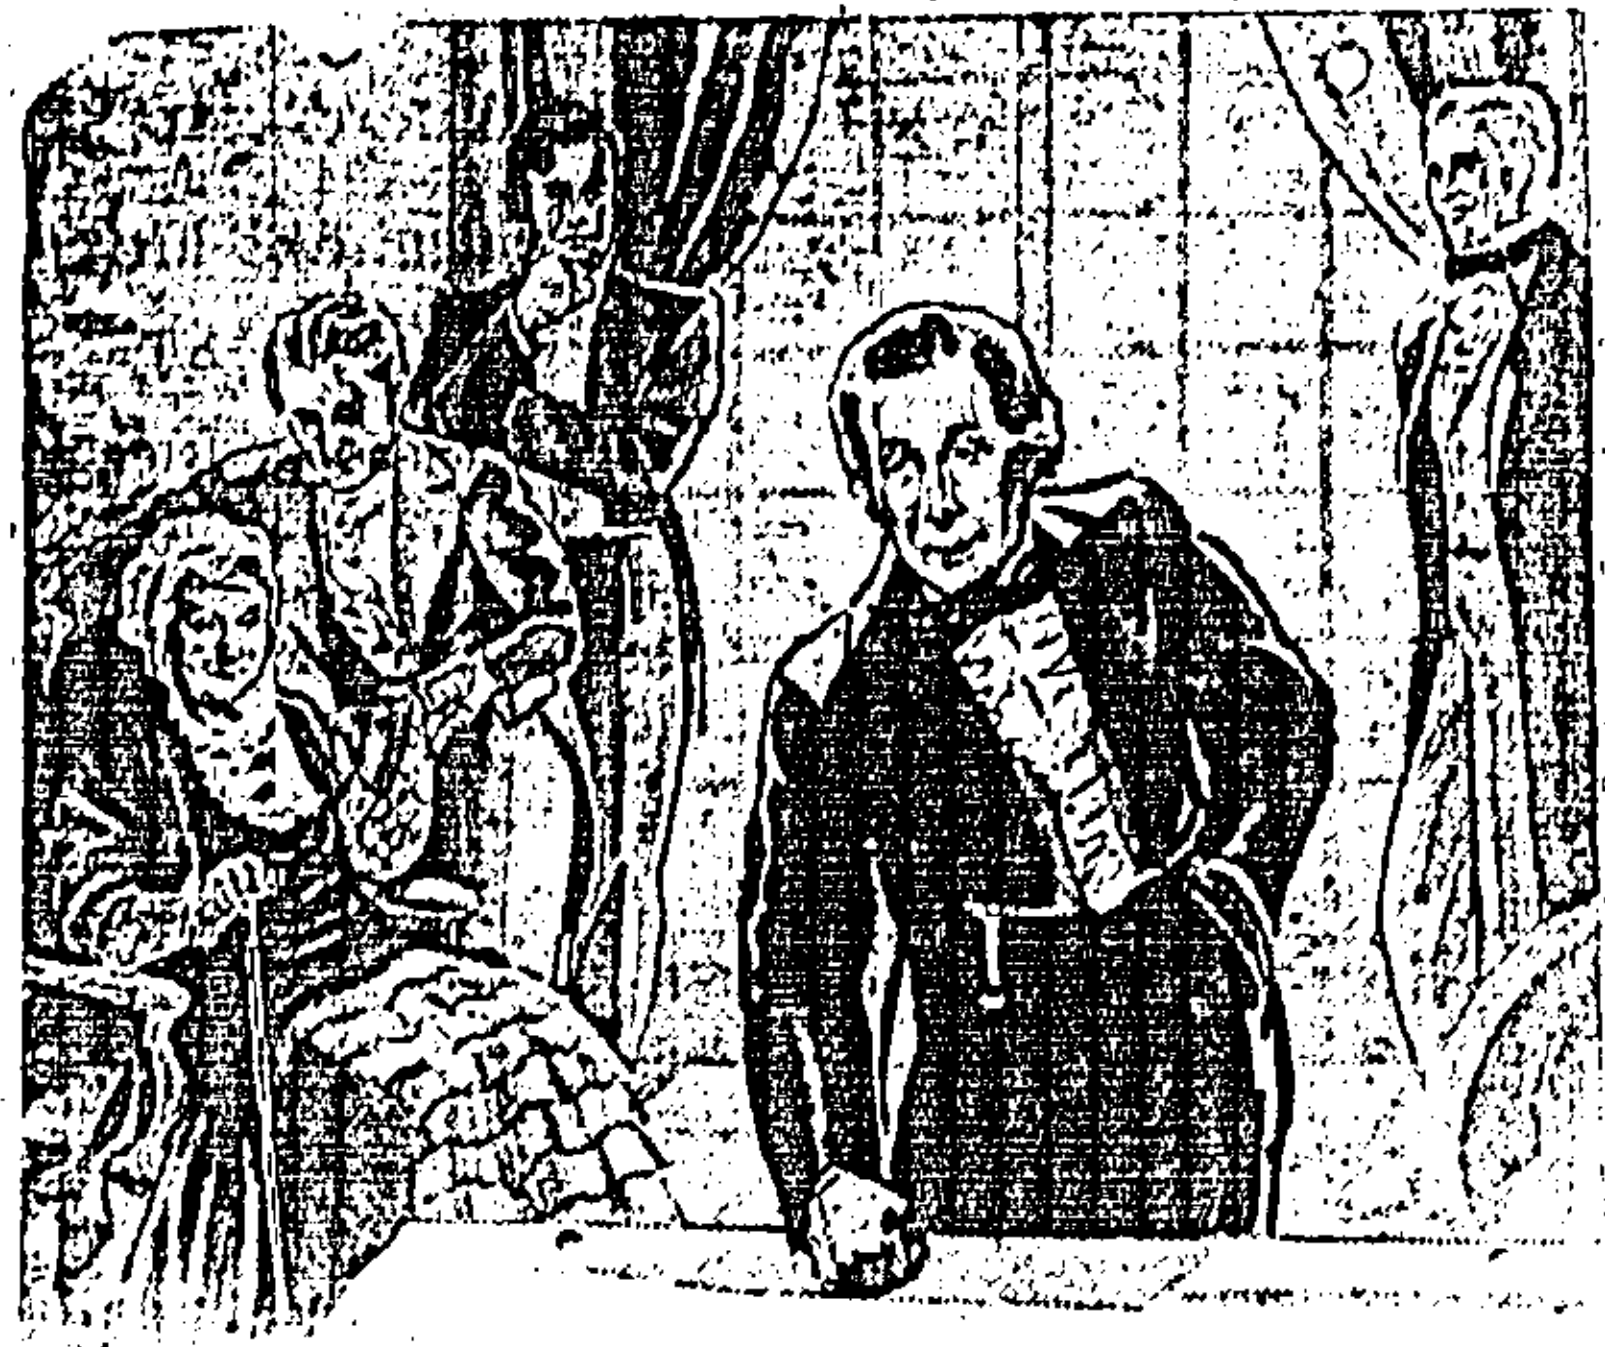

The Cabinet finds favour in both Houses where it is assured of a large majority.—Reuter.

one of those pistols, and to my light gleamed in his eyes. He looked to fire it and make a bang. He began to paw the rest of the automatics in the case. The light did not of his eyes and was replaced by a crafty look. He had noticed that one of the pistols was heavier than its fellows.

"He's a liar!" exclaimed Mr. O'Malley hotly. "He threatened to shoot me, an' he was down there tryin' to get the money out of the desk when he heard you coming."

The Guard looked from one to the other of them with a mystified expression on his broad features. He could not reconcile this bowler-hatted mincing little man with the picture of an armed robber. On the other hand, he saw no reason to disbelieve Mr. O'Malley, who was a man of sound common sense.

"Show me the gun?" he asked at last.

"By all means," said the little man. He snapped open the locks of the case. He flapped back the lid and revealed two or three mechanical toys and half-a-dozen small automatics.

"These are my samples," he declared. "Observe this!" He picked up one of the pistols and extracted the cartridge-clip. "You see—" he said, "—blank rounds! And observe, too, that the muzzle has no through bore. An ingenious idea, my friend. A toy that is not really a toy. It looks sufficiently like the real thing to scare a thief and yet it is harmless. A child can use it as a plaything and yet a householder can defend his property with it!"

The Guard took the automatic in his great hairy hand. He examined the cartridges. They were all blank. The little man handed him a second sample and a third. They were as similar as peas in a pod, loaded with blank cartridges, and with no through bores. Yet they looked exactly like real automatics. The Guard was puzzled. "What have you got them loaded for?" he asked.

"It was my intention," the little man explained, "to leave each with a live trader who would at my suggestion display it in his window and so create a demand for this type of pistol. I took one from my case with that very idea after presenting my card to this gentleman and to my amazement he immediately regarded me as an armed robber. I confess—seeing his attitude—that I carried the joke a little farther in order to impress upon him how fool-proof our product really is. Unfortunately he took the whole matter so seriously that he thought it necessary to call out."

"It's a funny way of doin' business, I must say," the Guard remarked, looking at the little man suspiciously. At the same time, he was impressed by the other's debating-society manner.

"Don't believe a word he says!" Mr. O'Malley burst out. "If you had only seen his eyes, man, an' he havin' the gun pointed at my head! He was in dead earnest, I tell you! If you hadn't come along I'd be a corpse by now an' all my money gone as true as you're standing there!"

"Bosh!" retorted the little man with a good-humoured smile. "Is it likely that I'd commit such a crime after presenting my card? Are we actors in a melodrama? You jump to very hasty conclusions, my dear sir! After all—this with a tinge of superiority in his tone and a visible straightening of the shoulders—"you are not such a prize, you know!"

He turned to the Civic Guard while Mr. O'Malley glared his wrath and said, "You see how easy it is to fool a man with such a gun? A neat turn-out—eh? My firm should be congratulated, don't you think?"

"Yes, it's a neat job all right," agreed the Guard. He looked at the weapon in his hand. A boyish light gleamed in his eyes. He looked to fire it and make a bang. He began to paw the rest of the automatics in the case. The light did not of his eyes and was replaced by a crafty look. He had noticed that one of the pistols was heavier than its fellows.

His experienced eye detected the through bore. He knew from the weight that it was loaded with live ammunition. He felt a thrill run through him as he held it in his hand. The memory of the days when he had fought the Black and Tans came back to him. The fascination of pointing a gun muzzle at a man, pressing a trigger, and seeing a human being topple over, overwhelmed him once more.

For years he had been going about his business in an unarmed police force with the natural instinct of a born killer dulled by a mass of routine and patrol duties. Now the lust to kill once more surged into his blood. It mounted along his limbs slowly, heating him so that he perspired. Veins stood out on his forehead. His finger ached to press that trigger.

Compression made them white, so that they seemed bloodless and unhealthy. A cunning thought flashed across his mind. The man that had declared in the presence of O'Malley that the guns were harmless, had been demonstrated that they were loaded with blank cartridges. How was he supposed to know that the pistol in his hand was not a toy? His face paled and his breath came thickly like the one over-powered by desire. This was his hour of temptation, and he could not resist the primitive urge in his blood. He stared at the gun in his hand. "It's a beauty," he murmured. "Would it make much of a bang I fired it?"

"It would," said the little man. "As loud as if it was a real pistol. That's the purpose of the toy. Real enough to scare a burglar, and yet entirely harmless."

The Guard lifted his eyes from the gun and stared at his informant. The little man saw the strange look in those eyes. His pale cheeks grew almost chalk-white. He swallowed hard, but he could not move his gaze from the eyes before him. They were like the eyes of a snake, of a basilisk.

"I'll fire a round," said the Guard slowly, "an' see if they'll hear it down at the barrack. It'll be better than a whistle."

He pointed the muzzle at the little man's stomach after the manner of a true killer and pressed the trigger. The snap of the explosion caused Mr. O'Malley to jump from the floor. The little man staggered against the counter. He screamed shrilly and jerked his hands to his stomach. He slithered down to the floor, kicked and squirmed on the boards, and cried aloud with pain. Then he lost consciousness and lapsed suddenly into his death-sleep.

"An' he told us," said the Guard, looking in a strange way at the horrified Mr. O'Malley, "that it was nothin' but a harmless toy. Now who—in the world—would have doubted that fella, and he a'most swearin' on the book?"

INCREASE IN GIRL GANGSTERS

Britain's Juvenile Courts Kept Busy

"WORSE THAN BOYS"

GIRLS, rather than the gangster type of boy, are causing the greatest problems for probation officers, said Miss Madeline Symons at a conference of the Society of Juvenile Courts Probation Officers at Livingstone Hall, Westminster, S.W., recently.

"The young gangster type of boy about whom we heard a great deal before the Young Persons (1933) Act became law," went on Miss Symons, "was going to disorganise juvenile courts, but has not materialised."

"The problems with girls, however, are greater. Before the Act the number of girls who appeared in court was very small, but they have now increased, and from November 1, 1933, to September 30, 1934, 117 girls over 14 years of age came before London Juvenile Courts."

"I have never felt that domestic service is necessarily the best occupation for these girls, or that herding them together is going to be helpful for them."

Miss M. A. Warner, of the Children's Branch, Home Office, said: "The girls who come to us do not know what a decent day's work is, they do not know how to work, or how to use their leisure."

Mr. A. E. Tyrer, a Brighton probation officer, told of an awkward, difficult, unlovable boy, who sat at the entrance to a boys' club all day opening and shutting the door as the boys went in and out. It was found that he was filled with a desire to be of service in the club and an office was found for him.

"To-day," said Mr. Tyrer, "he is an ordained priest in the Anglican Church opening wide doors for men to go through."

ADVERTISING IN JAPAN

"Superfine Vinegar's" Qualities

The use of extravagant similes is becoming a feature of Japanese advertising.

A departmental store in Tokyo tells customers to "step inside" and "be welcomed as fondly as if a ray of sunshine after a rainy day."

Here are "some more" "selling lines": "Each one of our assistants is as amiable as a father seeking a husband for a dowryless daughter."

A grocer advertising that his "superfine vinegar" is "more acid than the tongue of the most scolding mother-in-law."—Central News.

LABOUR DISPUTES' RULING

Important Step By Shanghai Bureau

The Bureau of Social Affairs of the Shanghai City Government has issued a circular notice with instructions that in future, labour disputes arising from the suspension of business or the dismissal of workers, any retiring gratuities agreed upon between the parties concerned should be issued to workers direct instead of through labour unions in order to prevent embezzlement by the latter.

MOTORING NOTES

WORLD CONGRESS OF THE ROAD

200 British Delegates For Munich

Over two hundred British delegates to the Seventh International Road Congress have left for Munich, says "Motor Transport."

The Ministry of Transport, the Roads Improvement Association, the British Road Federation, the Automobile Association, and the Commercial Motor Users' Association are represented by various delegates.

Measures for promoting road safety, traffic control, road construction and maintenance of vehicles are among the subjects to be dealt with.

Nearly 100 reports will be submitted by delegates from all parts of the world.

BADGES FOR GARAGE MECHANICS

Written Examination

Garage mechanics will soon be wearing badges to show they are "qualified repair men," according to "Motor Transport."

A scheme to submit mechanics who wish to practical tests and written examinations has just been formed by the Institute of Automobile Engineers. Candidates passing these tests will be awarded a Repair Certificate, a pocket replica of the certificate, and a badge.

BIGGEST ENEMY OF BUSES

Private Cars Condemned

The private car is the bus's biggest enemy, according to the Chairman of a well-known bus operating company.

The transfer of long-distance passengers from the bus to the cheap private-owned motor car is, he said, a much more important factor than the competition of the railways.

RECORDING ROBOT FOR LORRIES

An amazing recording robot has been invented for fitting to lorries, and is described in "Motor Transport."

This instrument makes a permanent record of the speed of the vehicle at any particular time, the duration of all running times, all idle periods, and all loading periods, and also the mileage travelled.

It also lights up a speedometer when the driver exceeds the speed limit.

OIL FROM COAL

The National Coal and Oil Co., Ltd. has, according to "Motor Transport," agreed to lease a site at Cardiff for the construction of an oil-from-coal plant on the lines of the company's plant at Cannock Chase.

CONVERSION TO TROLLEY BUSES

At a cost of nearly £200,000, Reading Town Council has decided to convert its transport system, during a period of seven years, from trams and buses to trolley buses.

DRIVING TESTS FOR MOTORISTS

How British Drivers Will Be Examined

Thousands of motorists are to undergo a driving test by order of the British Ministry of Transport.

All who have taken out licences since April 1, this year for the first time will have to submit the test. If they fail to pass, their licences will be taken away until their driving reaches the required standard.

Draft regulations relating to the tests for these and new drivers have just been issued.

According to these, the applicant for a driving licence must satisfy "a duly authorised examiner" that he is fully conversant with the Highway Code.

The Tests He must also satisfy as to his ability: unaided to—Start the engine of his vehicle; Move away straight ahead or at an angle;

Overtake, meet or cross the path of other vehicles and take an appropriate course;

Stop the vehicle in an emergency or normally, and in the latter case to bring the vehicle at rest at an appropriate part of the road;

Drive backwards, and while so doing enter a limited opening either to the right or to the left;

Reverse the direction of the vehicle by use of forward and reverse gears;

Give appropriate hand or mechanical signals at appropriate times to indicate intended actions;

Act promptly on all signals given by traffic signals, traffic controllers and other road users.

BOOTLEGGERS TURN BANDITS

New Menace For U.S. Truck Drivers

"Hijackers," or bootleggers, as they are sometimes called, who are now out of work, due to America going wet, have turned their activities to trucks. They waylay truck drivers and relieve them of their cargoes.

It has been suggested that hauliers fit their trucks with burglar alarms and teargas sprays, and that the driver's cab should have no running board and should be fitted with bullet-proof glass!

CONVERTING A PETROL ENGINE TO DIESEL

A standard two-litre engine has been converted to run on the diesel principle with surprisingly little alteration.

Two members of the Military College, Woolwich, have converted a four cylinder Lagonda engine by replacing the carburetor by a fuel pump and the sparking plugs by oil injectors. Beyond altering the design of the pistons little else has been done to the engine. It is said to run smoothly without undue noise.

SUGAR FOR FUEL

Experiments are being carried out in the Dutch East Indies with a fuel for motors consisting of a mixture of petrol and alcohol extracted from raw sugar.

YELLOW FEVER AND RESEARCH

"Final Victory" Stated
To Have Been Won.

INOCULATION SUCCESS

Inoculations against yellow fever prepared by Dr. Laigret, of the Tunis Pasteur Institute, and the American, Dr. Sellards, constitute a final victory over yellow fever, according to a report read before the French Academy of Sciences by one of the most distinguished French bacteriologists, Professor Nicolle.

Although the measures taken against the mosquito have effectively dealt with the yellow fever menace in properly administered tropical towns, the problem of the disease in the country districts and in the jungle remained unsolved, Professor Nicolle explained, until it could be dealt with biologically.

The microbe of the disease is invisible under the microscope, and the search for a suitable vaccine remained unsuccessful until Theiler observed that mice, otherwise immune, became infected if inoculated in the brain, and that the microbe in the brain of the mouse became so transformed that the mouse's blood could be injected into monkeys without affecting their health.

Looking For Volunteers
On this basis, Dr. Laigret and Dr. Sellards pursued their researches. The great difficulty was to find people willing to be inoculated experimentally. Three white men were successfully inoculated at the Tunis Pasteur Institute, but the confirmation of Dr. Laigret's hopes was not considered definite. Dr. Mathis, the head of the Dakar Pasteur Institute, finally persuaded—with great difficulty—M. Brevie, the Governor-General of French West Africa, to give Dr. Laigret an opportunity to experiment on a large scale. Dr. Mathis himself was the first to be inoculated. This summer 3,000 white men were inoculated in the Colony.

The result, it is claimed by Professor Nicolle, was a triumphant success. Two-thirds of the patients were not ill at all, and the remaining third not seriously so. Immunity was secured three days after the inoculation.

"PSYCHIC BIDDER" FOIL

(By LADY RHODES)

THOUGH psychic bidding should be indulged in rarely, there are occasions when a call of this type can be seriously embarrassing for the opponents and not particularly dangerous to the bidder and her partner.

Personally, when I sit down against an opponent whom I know to be a cunning bidder, I am always afraid of being done out of a game or a slam, or of being tricked into playing a hand in the wrong declaration.

A Difficult Situation
Sometimes, even though it is possible to know from one's own hand that the bid is psychic, it is difficult to know how to deal with it, and especially how to convey the position to your partner.

The other day, in the first hand of the rubber, my right-hand opponent, after two passes, opened with One Heart. My hand was:

S—x x H—A K Q J x x
D—K x C—x x x

What could I do?
Very often an expert player will put in a psychic bid to try to prevent the opponents from reaching a slam.

The following amusing example occurred the other day. Fortunately the opponents were too wide awake to be bluff. The score was love-all in the first game and the hands were—

North
S—2 H—A 6 5 D—K 10 8 6 C—A Q 9 6 5
West
S—9 7 4 3 H—9 8 7 4 2 D—5 C—10 7 4
South
S—A K 6 H—K 3 D—A Q J 9 4 3 C—A 2
East
S—Q J 10 8 5 H—Q J 10 D—7 2 C—K J 8

North opened with One Club. East said One Spade, and South, with her enormous hand, made the forcing bid of Two Spades, being certain of a game and hoping for a slam.

West, who was an extremely fine player, rapidly sized up the situation. With North's opening call, East's mere simple overbid, and South's very strong forcing bid, there seemed a certain claim for the opponents unless they could be bluffed out of it. He, therefore, bid Three Diamonds, to suggest strength in that suit and so prevent either North or South from bidding it. It should be seen that this was a reasonably safe bid. If doubled, West would have gone back to Three Spades, the bluff having failed. North then said Three No Trumps, East passed, and South bid Four Diamonds.

No Danger
Here there was no danger, even if North read South's bid as showing merely no loser in that suit. After the original forcing bid the call could not be left in Four Diamonds. Apart from the fact that North must have realised that it was most unlikely that her partner was showing no losers in both Spades and Diamonds, there was bound to be a further bid, and

GIANT RAT FOR ZOO

Predecessor That Was A Great Pet

From now until next spring the arrival of new specimens from abroad will be a rare event at the Zoo, as the autumn and winter months are unfavourable for transplanting any animals, except those from the Arctic to Britain.

A recent collection, sent from the Gambia, consists of a lion cub, two leopard cubs, a fox, a giant rat, horned antelope, mongoose, tall-less lemur, guinea fowl, monitor lizard, frogs, chameleons, a python and some thirty land crabs.

The giant rat will be a particularly welcome addition for the last example of these creatures exhibited in the menagerie enjoyed a successful career as a Zoo pet for several years. When he died of old age he was mourned by a large circle of young admirers. The land crabs, on the other hand, are in some danger of being regarded as superfluous. For months the Zoo did not possess a single land crab, but recently so many land crabs have been acquired that special arrangements were needed to accommodate them.

EX-MAYOR KNIGHTED IN STREET

Sir Frederick Dyson Passes

Alderman Sir Frederick Dyson, three times mayor of Windsor, who was knighted publicly in the street by the King in 1911, died recently in Windsor Hospital.

Sir Frederick was 80. His death followed an operation.

He had been a member of Windsor Town Council for 31 years and an Alderman for eight years. He was mayor in 1909-1910 and 1922.

He received his knighthood on July 1, 1911, at the foot of Queen Victoria's statue on Castle Hill when the King and Queen returned to Windsor Castle after the coronation ceremony.

Sir Frederick was vice-president and trustee of King Edward VII. Hospital, where he died, and was officially associated with nearly every institution and society in Windsor and Eton.

PERSUASION

(Dedicated to "My Dearie")

Why sit we here beneath these glaring lights?
The night is clear, far clearer than most nights.
The moon shines, gold 'gainst a soft silver-grey,
It is but right that we go out, not stay.
Come, out, fair one, beneath the smiling moon.
Come out to where the night winds softly croon.
Why waste the night and all the charms it holds?
By right divine its silver-grey and gold
Are yours and mine, so come. The moon-cast beams
Will make more sweet the night and true our dreams.
—G. S. A.

South could, if necessary, have rebid her Diamonds—in which case North must have realised that West was bluffing and would have raised her partner to little slam.
Actually North raised the Four Diamond bid to Five, and South went Six, which was made with the loss of only one trick in Clubs.
Though West, in this case, failed in his object, he might have succeeded against weaker opponents in tying them down to a bid of game only.

Chief Sitting Bull's Rival And Former Chinese Army Officer

An Englishman, who wrote poetry, "punched" cows in the United States, fought against Redskins and held a commission in the Chinese Army, has died at the age of 69.

He was Mr. William E. Malden, and he was born in England in 1876. He went to the United States at an early age and was a cowboy in the Dakotas.

When Sioux Indians, led by Chief Sitting Bull, made their famous attack on the "palefaces," Mr.

Malden was made a captain in the hurriedly-organised army to fight them.

Mr. Malden then took up newspaper work. Then he became a first-lieutenant in the Chinese Imperial Reform Army. The outbreak of the Boxer Rebellion came before the "Army" did much fighting.

After that Mr. Malden took up newspaper work again in British Columbia. He wrote many poems during the Great War under the name of "Bill Malden."

FREEZING CHAMBER ORDEAL

Man Escapes Alive After 4½ Hours

Mr. Edward Perrett, a 68-year-old engineer, has spent four and a half hours locked in a freezing chamber at Melbourne—and escaped alive.

Mr. Perrett went into the chamber to test the temperature. He had just found that it was six degrees below freezing point when the door swung to behind him and locked itself.

He was on the point of collapse and badly frost-bitten when he was released at 2.30 a.m. His long absence had alarmed his wife.

ILLITERACY TO BE ABOLISHED

Ambitious Programme In Poland

This month is to inaugurate a campaign in Poland by the Polish Association to reduce the percentage of illiteracy in the country. There are about 6,000,000 persons in Poland who can neither read nor write but the fact does not seem to abash the educators who, it is reported, have as their slogan, "One month to abolish illiteracy." The problem seems somewhat more complicated by the fact that among the illiterates are a great number of Russians and Ukrainians who are even ignorant of the Polish language.

CANTON-NANKING ACCORD STILL NOT IMMINENT

WANG INVITED TO RETURN SOUTH

FURTHER MEDIATION?

Canton, Yesterday.
The political situation in the South-West has not changed. In spite of the mediation of Judge Wang Chang-hui and his trip to Peking, as Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, Chairman of the Nanking Military Commission, is too occupied with other pursuits to pay serious attention to the terms of the South-west.

It was learned to-day that the leaders here have telegraphed to Judge Wang at Shanghai asking him to come South again for a further discussion. At present, the much-heralded harmony between Nanking and Canton is still distant.

General Chiang Po-cheng, contact officer of Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, will sail from Shanghai this evening for Canton aboard the President Lincoln. His duty is to effect co-operation between the Nanking and Canton forces in suppressing the Reds. His last stay of six months here yielded only meagre results.

Marshal Chiang Kai-shek is said to be heartened by the enthusiastic welcome he received during his tour of the North-west and Tai-yuanfu, where he met his former enemy, General Yen Hai-shan. The vacillating generals in the North are now professing allegiance to the Nanking marshal.

KIPLING-MELBOURNE CENTENARY ODE

For Armistice Day Ceremony

Sir Stanley Argyle, the Prime Minister, has received Mr. Rudyard Kipling's "Centenary Ode." He states that the sentiment of the poem is lofty and the whole composition most appropriate.

The ode is to be made public when the Duke of Gloucester dedicates the Shrine of Remembrance to-day.

ing power, Mr. Schroeder continues should be so greatly stimulated as to prove an important factor in European recovery.

The increased world production will be largely absorbed by speculative purchases and hoarding, but it is inevitable that the increase of gold-backing for credit will have the same effect as the discovery and the development of the Rand, namely, a period of activity and prosperous enterprise which was only terminated by the war, he adds.

FOREIGN BUYING IN NEW YORK

Interpreted As Start Of Upward Market

INCREASED INTEREST

SPECIAL TO SUNDAY HERALD.
New York, Yesterday.

Brokers reported heavy foreign buying yesterday and have noted stimulated professional interest. Some are interpreting this as the start of an important upward move in the market in November.

Favourable factors yesterday were that October bank clearing totalled U.S.$21,981,959,715, as against U.S.$19,585,285,46 in September and U.S.$21,095,971,128 in October last year, according to the "Commercial and Financial Chronicle," that Coca Cola has declared an extra dividend of $1 in addition to the U.S.$1.50 regular quarterly dividend; and that the car loadings decline in less than seasonal.

An unfavourable factor was that the Government is planning to increase the scope of the Tennessee Valley Authority's utility operations. —United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.
